U. S. FOOD BILL AIMED TO AID PACKERS

BIG 'L' MASS MEETING TONIGHT

American Asks Public for Helpful Suggestions at Tremont Temple

Constructive criticism and helpful suggestions from those interested in the improvement of the Boston Elevated Street Railway service are expected at the mass meeting called by the American in Tremont Temple tonight.

A number of experts will be on hand, and it is hoped that some plan may be evolved that will do much in solving the road's problems.

One of the advocates of public ownership with aditional State aid is F. W. Merrick, chairman of the committee on transportation, United Improvement Association.

Mr. Merrick is confident that the Elevated can be made the best railway system in this country under public ownership, but that it will take time. He believes that the most direct means of procuring capital for re-equipment must be adopted, and the most direct and speedy help in his opinion would be the purchase of the Cambridge subway and the application of the purchase money to capital account.

Mr. Merrick asserted that it is imperative that the people have confidence in their trustees, as the road is being made the victim of self-seeking politicians and reformers.

He said that the whole country is watching the experiment being carried out here, and that it must be re-

HOUSE SHUTS OUT BILL TO REPEAL 'L' CONTROL

Two bills aimed at the Boston Elevated situation were denied admission by the House of Representatives today. The first, filed by Representative James H. Brennan of Charlestown, would repeal the public control bill and direct the Public Service Commission "to make a study" of the L situation. The other, by Representative Thomas H. Green of Charlestown, would compel the trustees to run all-night cars every thirty minutes on all lines of the Elevated.

Trustees to Put "L" Control Up to Court

Public trustees of the Boston Elevated will shortly urge the Legislature to pass an order asking the opinion of the Supreme Court as to the constitutionality of the entire public control and service-at-cost act.

The trustees will express no opinion in the matter, but will urge an opinion from the court in order that the credit of the road may not be impaired by any doubt as to the constitutionality of the act.

A group of Charlestown citizens have officially attacked in the courts the constitutionality of that section which guarantees a dividend to the stockholders.

REFUSE 48-HOUR WEEK TO OVER 10,000

Lawrence, Jan. 23.—The Pacific Mills, employing 10,000 operatives, today refused the forty-eight-hour week demanded by textile workers.

The company explained that trade and employment are on a downward grade, prices are now higher than ever before and the workers have during the past year received voluntary increases.

The Pacific Mills are a Massachusetts corporation, of which Robert F. Herrick of Boston is president. The corporation has a capital stock of $15,000,000, and its Boston offices are located at No. 70 Kilby street.

The statement, signed by Agent Walter E. Parker, read in part:

"The textile industry, like many others, is suffering from the present readjustment. Business is dull, and without incentive wages have been increased 85 per cent. to 100 per cent. above the earnings of the workers before the war.

"The present tariff is not protective, and owing to the lack of business in sight we cannot afford to lowering the week's work from fifty-four to forty-eight hours. There is nothing that justifies such a course. In Great Britain 55½ hours is the standard, with 58½ to 60 hours or more on the continent. European wages have advanced during the war less than American wages, which are 100 per cent. higher than they were before the war on the same kind and amount of work on the same kind of machinery.

SUFFRAGISTS AS 'NEWSIES' TO SELL PARTY PAPER

Suffragists will become "newsies" next Saturday when members of the National Woman's Party will sell copies of "The Suffragist," the organization's paper, on Boston streets. The paper will contain an "explanation" why the suffragists tried to burn the President's speeches in Washington.

'MILLIONS IN PHONE RATES'

Public Service Commissioner Estimates Tremendous Increase in Revenue

Will New England pay more or less for telephone calls under the new system?

William H. O'Brien, director of the telephone and telegraph division of the Public Service Commission, says that the new rates will add more than $1,000,000 a year, and possibly twice that sum, to the company's revenues.

Henry F. Mosses, rate statistician for the company, declares that the increase in some items will balance decreases in others.

Here are the figures, which speak for themselves. They were prepared by Mr. Mosses for the company and show old and new rates between Boston and stations within a 25-mile radius and in other localities:

HOLDUP MEN SECURE $100 AT CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge holdup men secured $100 from Charles Walam, one of the proprietors of the Avenue Spa on Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge. A negro and a white man, according to Walam's story, accosted him on his way home. One of the pair pointed a revolver at him and when he held up his hands the second man struck him on the head, knocking him unconscious. When he regained consciousness the two men and $100 he had in his pocket were gone.

SALVATION ARMY CREED LED INTO STORM OF SHELL

Brigadier-General Mrs. Mary J. Shephard of the Salvation Army, registering at Liberty Hall on the Common today, and John T. Hosford of the Mayor's reception committee. Mrs. Shephard is the first woman back from the battlefields to register at the hall.

By HAZEL CANNING.

"If everything isn't done now for the boys that ought to be done, then shame on us!"

"Brigadier-General" Mrs. Mary J. Shephard of the Salvation Army and People's Palace, first woman returned from overseas to enroll in the registration book at Liberty Hall, so spoke.

An indorsement of the American's campaign for six months' pay for discharged soldiers followed quickly after.

"That's a mere trifle," said she, "a very small return indeed. If the legislators who hesitate had seen what I have seen over there they could not sleep at night till they had passed the bill."

Hearty, wholesome, womanly, yet with that militant Christianity, and that martial goodness for which her great organization, the Salvation Army, has stood in this war, Brigadier-General Shepard, in her army khaki, told of life right up at the front line, in trench and dugout, as it was lived by one American Salvation Army woman.

PLAGUE DEATHS IN BOSTON INCREASE

An increase in deaths from influenza and pneumonia, but a decrease in the number of new cases was shown in today's report from the Boston Board of Health, compared with yesterday's report.

Today's report, for the last 24-hour period, gave 19 deaths from influenza against 17 on yesterday's report, and seven deaths from pneumonia against four reported yesterday.

The report today of new cases was 127 of influenza, compared with 144 yesterday, and nine of pneumonia, compared with 25 yesterday.

HITCHCOCK JUSTIFIES HOOVER

Senator Says It Was Up to Food Administration to Find Market for Packers

Washington, Jan. 23.—In a final effort to save the President's $100,000,000 food bill, Senator Hitchcock took the Senate floor this afternoon and admitted that the purpose was in part to save packing houses from loss.

He justified the position taken by Herbert Hoover, however, on the ground that since the packers kept their promise to the Food Administration to buy pork at 17½ cents a pound it was up to the Food Administration to keep its word to the packers and supply a market for their product.

Food Prices Higher Under U. S. Control, Says Swift of the "Big Five"

By International News Service.

Washington, Jan. 23.—Cost of foodstuffs would increase and the packing business would be crippled if Congress enacted such legislation as contained in the Sims and Kendrick bills, declared Louis F. Swift, president of Swift & Co., one of the "Big Five" packers, today.

He took the stand before the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, which is conducting hearings based upon the Federal Trade Commission report, and following two days of testimony by J. Ogden Armour, president of Armour & Co. Like Armour, Swift branded the report of the trade commission as "grossly unfair to the packing industry and asserted that Francis J. Heney, who conducted the hearings, did it in a "one-sided way and gave the packers no opportunity to refute biased testimony."

SWIFTS A FAMILY AFFAIR.

Like Armour, Swift revealed the fact that his company is a family-owned concern, and, like Armour, he made a flat, sweeping denial that his company has any agreement, either formal or informal, with other packers concerning the division of livestock receipts, the distribution of meats or in any way which affects livestock or meat products.

Levy Mayer, representing Swift & Co., also testified. He declared the President would be given "supreme—almost divine—authority to engage in private industry contrary to the laws of the land" under packer legislation now pending before Congress.

DECLARES BILL TYRANNICAL.

The bill before the committee, especially the licensing provision, is "tyrannical," Mayer said, and would give the President power to engage in the business "of manufacturing cotton cloth, pins, buttons or in any other business," and this is a violation of the Constitution, he said.

Mayer quoted several decisions of the Supreme Court to show that the proposed legislation to take over the packing industry was unconstitutional and in violation of the interstate commerce law.

Says U. S. Must Guard Against German Rush After War

Washington, Jan. 23.—German soldiers and officers intend to flock to this country as soon as the bars are let down, Representative Royal C. Johnson, South Dakota, testified before the House immigration committee today when he appeared in support of the Burnet bill to restrict immigration. This testimony, he said, was based on statements made to him, when he was abroad by German prisoners.

"There has been a great mental and moral breakdown all over the world," said Johnson, "and before you can expect our soldiers to live next to the man who a few months before was shooting him with machine guns, something more than a mere stopping and saying 'Kamerad' is necessary. They must be allowed time for readjustment. Labor also has an inherent right to be protected."

JOBS FOR PATTERN MAKERS AT ARSENAL

A large number of the pattern makers recently laid off at the Watertown Arsenal will be re-employed, as the result of an order from Major-General C. C. Williams, chief of ordnance, for a type of pilot railway mount for twelve-inch howitzers, to be turned out at the arsenal. The order says: "To meet the wishes of the chief of ordnance it will be necessary to work three shifts in several departments. The large amount of pattern work involved will enable the arsenal to re-employ a number of pattern makers recently laid off, but it is not anticipated that additional employes in any other trades can be given employment as a result of this order."

U. S. WINS FIGHT FOR POLAND

Allied Decision to Send Mission Hailed as Remarkable Wilson Victory

By JOHN EDWIN NEVIN,

International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Paris, Jan. 23.—Responsibility of the authors of the war and penalties will be among the first questions considered when the plenary session of the peace conference meets again Saturday, it was revealed by an official communique issued today.

(Consideration of responsibility and penalties evidently refers to William Hohenzollern, former German Emperor, and the indication is that swift steps will be taken to bring the one-time war-lord to trial, if such action is deemed expedient in the interests of humanity.)

The text of the official communique follows:

"At today's meeting the members of the supreme council considered the adenda of Saturday's plenary session of the conference, contemplating the following questions:

(1) International labor legislation.

(2) Responsibility for the war war and penalties.

(3) Reparation and damages.

(4) International regimes of ports and control of waterways and penalties.

The meeting will also study the matter of procedure in settling territorial questions. Marshal Foch, the allied generalissimo, and General Diaz, the Italian commander-in-chief, will attend a meeting of the Versailles war council tomorrow.

M. Sazanoff, representing most of the anti-Bolshevik governments in Russia, announced today that they would not take part in the Russo-allied peace conference on Prince's Island, in the Sea of Marmora, on February 15. M. Sazanoff explained that the non-Bolshevik governments in Russia would not participate in the conference because the Bolshevik government would be represented.

VICTORY FOR WILSON.

The announcement by the Supreme Inter-Allied Council that an economic and military mission will be sent into Poland was considered today as the preliminary to a speedy realization of one of President Wilson's fourteen principles—the creation of a free and independent Poland.

President Wilson emerges from the first few days of the conference of the big five with striking victory, and [illegible] enter the actual peace conference with an equal chance of success on the question of a league of nations. The next plenary session of the peace conference will be held on Saturday, when there will be a discussion of the league of nations.

SAY POLES WILL HELP.

Vernon Kellogg of California, who has just returned from Poland, will probably be a member of the commission that is to be sent into that country by the associated powers.

The decision to send the mission followed a recommendation by General Haller (an anti-Bolshevik leader in Russia) that such action be taken. It was seconded by Marshal Foch.

General Haller expressed the belief that good results would arise from allied support and that, if supplies were sent, a large army of Polish origin could be raised to fight the Bolsheviks. At the same time the Poles would be enabled to protect themselves from the German menace.

(Joseph Heller has been in command of the Polish forces recruited in Western Russia and also in the United States and European countries. A large part of this force was raised through the efforts of Jan Ignace Paderewski, the famous pianist.)

News from Germany about the mobilization of troops in East Prussia has caused some uneasiness in allied military circles, but it is hoped that the presence of the allied mission in Poland will prevent a widespread conflagration of warfare.

PLAN TO HURRY MISSION.

If Dr. Kellogg is selected as a member of the mission he will be the civilian representative of the United States. He is a member of the faculty of the Leland Stanford University in California and is well qualified to hold the post. He is now engaged in compiling a report on the Polish situation. General Tasker H. Bliss of the American peace delegation probably will be the military representative on the mission.

It is understood that England, France, Italy and Japan will choose members immediately, so that no time will be lost in getting the mission on its way.

The arrival here of General Diaz, the Italian commander-in-chief, will enable the Italian peace delegates to name their military representative immediately.

Reports that fourteen divisions of Polish troops will be sent eastward are not credited here, as it is believed that it would be impossible to raise that number of troops. Two divisions have already been created, and a third is in the process of formation.

PADEREWSKI'S GREAT VICTORY.

Marshal Foch advocated the transfer of a large number of rifles, field guns, machine guns, shells, trucks and horses to the Polish army. These are to be given outright or loaned, as the mission may judge for itself.

The quick action taken by the allies in regard to Poland was due almost entirely to the astounding success of Paderewski, who brought order out of chaos in Poland within several weeks. He effected a reconciliation between the warring factions, whose differences had prevented allied interference. Through the junction with the factions headed by General Pilsudsky, M. Paderewski gave the allies an opening.

An efficient coalition government has now been established at Warsaw, and the military organization is being put on a firm basis.

Paderewski's transition from a pianist to a statesman caused the old-time diplomats of Europe to "sit up and take notice."

Paderewski departed for Poland in what seemed to be the face of certain failure. General Pilsudski, who was maintaining a de facto government at Warsaw, had sent two commissions to Paris to inform the Polish national committee, of which Paderewski was the American representative, that any attempt at agreement between the factions was impossible.

Marshal Foch was called upon by the inter-allied council to give an opinion on the possibility of transporting the Polish troops now in France to their native land.

Speedy, detailed reports are expected from the members of the allied mission.

So far the peace commissioners have not given formal recognition to the new Polish government, but this is expected to be forthcoming very soon.

There is to be a general election in Poland on January 26, when a National Assembly will be chosen, and it is unlikely that the recognition of the infant republic will be before that.

Because of the spread of Bolshevism into Poland, the Polish question can now be considered as a by-product of the Russian problem.

ADMITS KEEPING OUT MONEY ON COLLECTIONS

The failure of his employers to live up to their agreement to pay him $25 a week salary, rather than the $23 he actually received, justified the action of Chester Donelly, a driver for the Elm Spring Company of Waltham, in deducting from his collections to make up the shortage, he stated in the Waltham Court today. Donelly was arrested on a charge of larceny of $118.36 from the company. The case was continued until January 30.

MASS MEETING TO DISCUSS 'L' PROBLEMS

membered that many street railways are in a desperate plight.

Mr. Merrick declared that the road has been brought to its present condition by the demands of the public for more than it was willing to pay for, and by the yielding of the old management to other than business considerations. He said that under the five-cent fare, which so many are advocating, the present deficit would be $11,500,000.

BEARING GREAT BURDEN.

The transportation expert called attention to the fact that the road has been forced to bear a tremendous burden of extra wage demand and has been obliged to contend with run-down equipment.

It has been impossible, said Mr. Merrick, to obtain deliveries on new equipment, because of government interference. The business is in desperate straits, he said, and only complete co-operation on the part of the public, the Legislature and the press will avoid impending ruin.

Mr. Merrick declared that he was satisfied that the trustees are men of ability, who are making every effort to operate efficiently this road and are disposed to establish the most frank relations with the public. He emphasized the fact that the trustees represent the public and no one else, and that they are entitled to the support of the public in their efforts to rehabilitate the Elevated system.

WILLIAM E. WEEKS, Mayor of Everett:

Everett people are thoroughly dissatisfied with the Elevated. If this protest meeting will do any good I am heartily in favor of it. After 5:30 p. m. it is impossible to get aboard a Broadway Everett car let alone sit down. The non-stop car is ridiculous following a car that makes every stop.

EX-REPRESENTATIVE CHARLES O'CONNOR:

A proposition such as proposed by the American is an excellent means of starting some reform in the car service. In South Boston conditions are getting intolerable. Ill-smelling cars that never have been cleansed, congestion and interminable delays seem to me the most outstanding features of the present "L" system. The Broadway tunnel is absolutely useless.

EX-SENATOR JAMES POWERS:

The conditions in South Boston are getting intolerable. The cars are filthy; they should be fumigated after each trip. The Broadway tunnel is a disgrace and an abomination.

CHARLES H. ADAMS, Mayor of Melrose:

The meeting scheduled by the American is an excellent one. The people who are paying high fares have a right to be heard. I think it will be productive of some agitation that will lead to better results.

CHARLES M. BLODGETT, Mayor of Malden:

I heartily endorse the proposition of the American for the plan of rendering constructive protest against the system operated by the "L." I sincerely hope that as a result of the meeting not only the service, but general conditions prevailing under the "L" system may be improved.

EX-SENATOR RICHARD C. KIRBY, President of the East Boston Improvement Association:

I will be present this evening at the mass meeting to voice my opinion of the service and conditions in East Boston. Other well known business men, representing the four sections of East Boston, will also be present. The American, which has gotten everything for East Boston, including an ambulance at the Relief Station, is to be congratulated.

Army Carrier Pigeon Speedier Than Telephone

Carrier pigeons are quicker than the telephone, says Sergeant Albert L. Shaughnessy, pigeon expert of the signal corps department at army headquarters, No. 99 Chauncy street, who has a flock of patriotic and trusty birds. When they are released for a message flight, say to Camp Devens or Camp Meade, for instance, they dart away rapidly after getting their bearings. As for their speed, Shaughnessy says:

"They are going every day either to Camp Devens or Camp Banks. I've time them myself. Usually they get messages to officers before we can get the officers on the telephone."

There are other advantages of the bird "hello" system. You don't strike a "busy" line, nobody "listens in" on the wire and you don't get cut off in the middle of a message.

IRISH PAPERS SEE DANGER IN SINN FEIN

By International News Service.

Dublin, Jan. 23.—"If the Sinn Fein parliament's proceedings are serious we are on the eve of one of the most tragic chapters in the history of Ireland," said the Freeman's Journal today in commenting on the situation, which is developing here. The Irish pres is full of such forebodings. The Freeman's Journal continued:

"If the Parliament is not serious the Irish people will cut a ridiculous figure in the eyes of the world."

Professor de Valera is now being boomed by his followers as "the first President of the Irish republic."

De Valera is president of the Sinn Fein organization, and is now in jail on a political charge. He took part in the Dublin rebellion and was originally sentenced to death, but the sentence was commuted. He was elected to Parliament in 1917, but refused to take his seat and was re-elected in the December election last year.

The Irish Times, in commenting upon the situation, said: "It (the Sinn Fein Parliament) has aroused hopes which it cannot fulfill." This newspaper strongly warns against Irish Bolshevism.

The Irish Independent says that it would be to Ireland's advantage to be associated with Great Britain with a dominion government but that the prospects of the republicans are remote.

front, and I've seen our boys at work where the shells flew thickest. Since in France all of our huts, even at the front, are 'manned' by women."

FIRST TRIP TO TRENCHES.

Of her first trip to the trenches, Mrs. Shepard speaks relishingly. "I said to the officer, said I: 'Tomorrow's my birthday, and the thirty-third anniversary of my entrance into the Salvation Army, and I want to be allowed to take some baskets of things to the boys, right up under the big guns.'

"'Lord 'a mercy,' said he to me, ''tis no place for a woman.'

"'General,' says I, 'the same God that took care o' me in Boston will take care o' me in the trenches.'

"'Perhaps you're right,' says he, 'all's well, you may go.'

"Which I did. And, on arriving there, a mud-stained youngster, in a tin 'Lizzie' and a gas mask, rolled out of a dug-out so surprised he nearly went back again.

"'God bless my soul,' said he, 'if here ain't a honest-to-goodness American woman right up at the front.'"

And another picture follows, of another young American, who also came out of the same dugout.

"'Here,' said he, when at last we were talking on friendly intimacy, 'here's the picture of the sweetest little girl a man ever married, and the best baby a fellow was ever daddy to, and yet, not even to see them again, would I leave this here old France till we've licked the Kaiser clean to Berlin.'

"It was good the war ended when it did," continued the smiling lady militant, "but they were a disappointed lot of young Americans at not being allowed to fight their way through Germany."

MANY GERMAN ATROCITIES.

But mention to Mrs. Shepard German atrocities, and you find a lady exceedingly earnest.

"All that has been said is true—and more. Things I couldn't bear to tell you; things you wouldn't publish if I did, they are so shocking. I could show you two little graves, in France, I saw myself, pointed out to me by the mothers of the two girls who lie beneath, girls not put to death by German officers, but girls, nevertheless, better dead, as you would agree, had you hear dtheir mothers tell the stories, as I heard them.

"We will never know the full extent of the enormity of the German till our own boys come back and tell, if indeed they can bring themselves to tell."

This is the way this good brigadier-general of Christianity militant defines the ideals of a Salvation Army woman worker with the A. E. F.:

"To be always on the job; to be a human machine, for work, when machinery must take the place of woman power; to work with glad hands and heart all day; and to turn out at night, to get coffee and food, whenever the need comes; to mend; to darn; to sew; to clean; to say 'God bless you' at the right time; and to know enough to hush a woman's talkative tongue, when silence is the need; and to stay in France, working, till the last man has sailed for home—those are our ideals. And add, to do these things without pay, and the story is finished."

Which is a little of the wisdom, and then experience of a Salvation Army mother, wife, and brigadier-general, who saw great things in a great era at the front, and returned to tell of them with sympathy.

Florence, Italy, Jan. 22.—The most serious contradiction we shall have to face at the peace table is the question of guarantees. It is the most serious because it is based not merely upon the views of politicians, but is the outcome of the war itself.

If the danger of a social-political crisis such as the tearing asunder of Russia is to be avoided, the peace of Europe must rest upon a stable foundation. It is unthinkable that Europe, after sacrificing ten millions of lives, should begin the work of reconstructing her wealth and social order with the threat of war perpetually hanging over her head.

No government could ask of its people the sacrifices which such a course entails. Europe must, therefore, choose between a sure, permanent peace, and social revolution.

It is obvious, therefore, that the question of the military settlement of Europe and of the League of Nations—European and American—will be the most important question to be considered at the peace table.

TREATY DEPENDS ON SOLUTION.

Upon its solution depends the value and permanence of the whole peace treaty. Unfortunately, there is a great risk that while the great powers are endeavoring to restore peace, war may once more threaten Europe—not on account of the rivalries and discords that divided Europe before the war, but of these new subjects of dispute brought into being by the manner in which the war was carried on and the manner in which it ended.

We have already seen that owing to the lack of any generally accepted principles in accordance with which the boundaries between nations can be drawn, there is danger of the various nations concerned attempting to draw boundaries by the force of arms.

Such a procedure would, however, surely be a denial of the very principles of nationality. This principle must serve as a check on the right to wage war, and upon the passions which drive nations to war. If it fails to act as such, it will degenerate into a fresh pretext for the justification of the old policy of conquest and the passions to which it gave birth.

TEEMS WITH WAR PASSION.

And as a matter of fact, Europe, which stands in such sore need of peace, teems with bellicose passions to a far greater extent than before the war. Nor is this a premature illusion. We must bear in mind that in Russia the war has given birth to a great revolution.

This revolution has assumed a markedly hostile attitude toward the democratic powers of western Europe and America; that in proportion as the Germans withdraw from the ancient Russian territory, this revolution advances westward; that Poland is threatened and, after having been under the yoke of three military empires for over a century, is now in danger of being conquered by Bolshevism; that it is quite possible that the Bolshevist revolution may triumph in at least parts of Germany and Prussia itself.

However much the entente powers may desire to avoid interfering in the affairs of the Russian revolutionary movement; however much they may desire to establish a sanitary cordon around western Europe, it would be imprudent to ignore the possibility of this cordon being broken and of the entente powers being forced to intervene in order to defend the work they have accomplished, and the very foundation of peace in Europe.

BATTLE WITH SOCIAL REVOLT.

Could they, for instance, allow Poland to be overwhelmed by Bolshevism at the very moment when they are attempting to establish her as an independent democracy?

Europe is confronted with the task of restoring peace to the world at the very moment when she is seething with warlike passions and when, after crushing Germanism, she may be forced to battle with social revolution.

EDWARDS LAUDS BOYS OF NEW HAMPSHIRE

Says No Better Soldiers Went Over the Top for U. S. on Battlefields

Manchester, N. H., Jan. 23.—"A stouter-hearted lot of boys never went over the top than the New Englanders of the 103rd Infantry," Major General Clarence R. Edwards said today, speaking from the rear of his special car on his way to Concord. "That regiment had most New Hampshire lads," continued the former commander of the Yankee Division, "and there were many from Manchester whom I knew personally. They made good soldiers—they had the courage and the staying power, the backbone and the heart."

General Edwards remarked that the 103rd was well equipped with interpreters, as many of the New Hampshire soldiers were of French Canadian descent, and spoke the tongue of their fathers readily.

The people gave the general a hearty greeting, and on behalf of the citizens Mayor Verrette presented him with an Edison phonograph worth $300, and a supply of records.

COMMISSIONER HAYES HIS OWN INTERPRETER

United States Commissioner Hayes displayed his linguistic ability at the Federal Building today by acting as interpreter in the case of Benjamin St. Louis of Montague street, Beverly. St. Louis, a Frenchman, was arrested at the North Station on the charge of giving liquor to a soldier. He could speak no English. Learning that the man was French, the commissioner proceeded to read the complaint in that language and then questioned St. Louis. Commissioner Hayes dismissed the case on the ground that the evidence was not strong enough to hold.

SOUTH BOSTON BABY IS FATALLY BURNED

Mary, the four-months-old baby of James and Sarah Cunningham of No. 169 Dresser street, South Boston, was probably fatally burned today when her clothing caught fire as she was playing in her baby carriage near the kitchen stove, and is not expected to live.

EBERT'S PARTY HAS STRONG PLURALITY

Berlin, Jan. 22 (Via Copenhagen, Jan. 23).—The loyal Socialists (supporters of Chancellor Ebert's government) will have a strong working majority in the National Assembly. This was assured today when official count of the ballots in Sunday's election was completed.

The lineup follows: Majority Socialists, 163 seats; Independents, 25; Democrats, 75; German Nationals, [illegible]; Centrists, 86; Liberals, 22; miscellaneous, 11.

A number of women were elected.

There was no balloting in Alsace and Lorraine.

The Assembly will meet on February 6.

Presidential booms have been started for Dr. Naumann, well-known German historian, Dr. Dernburg and General Groener.

Berlin was practically safe today, although there were a number of daylight holdups.

The volunteer army has been withdrawn, and the city is now patrolled by sailors.

No Berlin papers were published today on account of the strike troubles.

The city was in darkness last night as a result of the walkout of the electric workers. The street car employes have quit, also.

It is reported that Carl Radek, emissary of the Russian Bolsheviki, who was sent into Berlin to spread propaganda, will return. He fled when the Spartacan uprising failed.

Copenhagen, Jan. 22.—Robert Emil Eichhorn, former Bolshevik chief of police in Berlin who fled after the Spartacist uprising collapsed, has been found in his home in Berlin, which is now surrounded by soldiers, said a dispatch from that city today. Eichhorn was elected to the German national assembly in the recent election.

WALTHAM HARDWARE STORE ROBBED AGAIN

In the second break since October goods valued at $165 were stolen from the hardware store of C. H. Dwinell at No. 767 Main street, Waltham. As in the former break, a window in the rear was smashed. The goods stolen included revolvers, cartridges, flashlights and pocket cutlery. The first break was the work of boys, whose parents made restitution. The police believe that the second also can be traced to boys.

DANCE EVILS IN HIGH CLASS PLACES, SAYS WOMAN INVESTIGATOR

WOULD BAR ALL GIRLS UNDER 17

Dance halls where a low price of admittance is charged are not the only ones where objectionable conditions maintain, according to Miss Mary E. Driscoll, fixed post representative, section on women and girls, War Department Commission on Training Camp Activities.

Miss Driscoll is in charge of the force of women workers through whose efforts was secured the evidence which resulted in the closing of St. James Dance Hall on Huntington avenue. She plans personally to inspect every dance hall in Boston.

She has prepared especially for the Boston American the following article embodying her ideas on the dance hall question:

By MARY E. DRISCOLL.

The dance as it is being exhibited in the different dance halls in the city of Boston seems to be a respecter neither of place nor person. It is as possible for one to see the most sensual demonstration of so-called dancing in our better dansante or dance halls as it is to find it in the public dance halls, for which a coupon may be issued calling for a 15-cent admission.

The dance, with its original idea to express mirth, play, grace, music, rhythm, etc., seems almost to have disappeared, and in its place we find among all classes of people a demonstration which in itself expresses sensuality, and too often degeneracy.

I am of the opinion that it is possible to have the dance with the so-called "jazz" music an expression of joy and mirth and play. I am very much in favor of dancing for young people.

PICKS THE BEST SPIELER.

The young man to be found among frequenters of the public dance hall often is far from his home town and its influences where he is perhaps a respected young person. However, he seeks out in the public dance hall the girl whose skirt is the shortest, whose waist is the lowest, and whose face is the most highly painted, and who is, in the language of the girl, "the best spieler."

He will conduct her out on the floor, and he has been seen time and time again dancing on floor space that actually did not cover more than four feet square.

From this exhibition the young girl making her first visit to the dance hall gathers the false impression that if she is to be popular and sought for she must imitate in her appearance and dance this particular type of girl.

This same young man would not consider presenting such an exhibition in the midst of his friends or family who respect him and who have reason to believe he has standards as to women.

So long as there is a demand by the young men for this type of girl so long will the supply be available.

WOULD RAISE AGE LIMIT.

I am of the opinion that the age of admission to our dance halls should be seventeen instead of sixteen, as it is at present; that there should be going around our public dance halls a group of women who love the dance, who love the youth, but who are capable and keen enough to discover the spots where play is no longer a part of the dance but rather an immoral performance more deadly than is comprehensible because it is being carried on under the cloak of respectability.

The damage this sort of performance is to the very foundation of young manhood and young womanhood cannot be estimated.

Have your dance halls, have your music—"jazz" if it must be—but teach your young man to respect every girl he meets, but to give to the girl whose appearance makes her look "fast" the "cold shoulder," so to speak.

Encourage in the girl who is a new comer that pretty manners, a naturally pretty face, sweet girlish fragrancy are still assets and are still at a premium in our public dance halls.

I plan personally to inspect all of the hundred or more dance halls in the city of Boston, firmly believing it is possible to have them so conducted that the youth may go to them without any fear of the public dance hall proving to be, as has been illustrated time and again, "a school for immorality and indecency of the lowest imaginable type."

IT'S ALWAYS SUMMER AT OLD PALM BEACH

Favored as New England has been with a mild Winter, one cannot help envying those lucky enough to bask in the sunshine of perennial Summer beneath southern skies. And here is Pearl White, one of the many idols of the movie world, on the sands at Palm Beach, where every day is seashore day in balmy Florida.

'CHESTNUTS' AND GIRL SOUGHT IN SLAYING

Providence, R. I., Jan. 23.—"Chestnuts" and a girl are being sought by the police in the Sardo murder case. "Chestnuts," according to Chief Inspector James Ahearn, is the gang-name of the assassin who escaped when Cuiseppi Sardo was shot to death in Angelo Stefano's grocery on Atwell's venue Tuesday. Ahearn says "Chestnuts" sells religious pictures as a "blind."

Two men were arrested after a chase, giving their names as James Cozzello of Boston and John Carizzi of Hoboken. They pleaded not guilty to murder of Sardo today, but were held without bail for trial on February 4.

The police says that "Chestnuts" and two companions entered Stefano's grocery, inquiring for a girl known to Stefano's family. Sardo, who was in the store, objected and was shot. The girl has since disappeared. The police believe that she is now with "Chestnuts" or knows where he has fled.

GOVERNOR ASKS SURVEY OF FARM HELP NEEDS

Governor Coolidge today sent the following letter to the agents of County Farm Bureaus with reference to employment of sailors and soldiers on farms and woodlands:

"In order to furnish employment for as many sailors and soldiers as possible who may desire to work on farms and woodlands during the coming months, I wish that your bureau would immediately prepare a census of the approximate number of men that farmers in your country would be likely to require for their Spring and Summer operations, and also for their immediate work."

POLICE SEEK FUGITIVE AFTER FATAL FIGHT

Clinton, Jan. 23.—Thomas Culvert, 25, is dead at Clinton Hospital, and a warrant charging Joseph Spooner with his murder, has been issued as the result of a fight on the Alexander Williams estate in the town of aHrvard on January 15. Spooner has left Harvard and is supposed by the police to be somewhere near Boston. The men were both employed on the Williams estate in the town of Har- said to have been due to jealousy. While Culvert was conscious he told the police that Spooner hit him with a flat-iron.

The funeral of Timothy Ahern, father of Judge Timothy J. Ahern of the Roxbury Court, was held today from his late home at No. 115 St. Alphonsus street, Roxbury. The Rev. Stephen Leo Ahern, a son of the deceased, was celebrant at the solemn high mass at the Mission Church, the Rev. James Lynch was deacon and the Rev. Daniel Collins sub-deacon. The Rev. Ahern recently returned from Fort Hustis, Virginia, where he was a chaplain in the army. Burial was at Holyhood Cemetery, Brookline.

Reunion of French Captain and Dad Moves U. S. Men

Springfield, Jan. 23.—How he "darned near cried" when he witnessed a touching reunion between a French captain and his old father is told by Private Charles W. Caldwell of the 202d Engineers in a letter home. It happened on the day before the armistice was signed.

"I was at my daily job of manicuring the well-paved highways of France," runs the letter. "From one direction came riding a spruce young French captain, followed by an orderly. From the other direction came hobbling painfully along a little, bent old man. The captain, after one look at the old man, threw himself off his horse, and with one ecstatic shout, 'Mon pere!' he embraced the old chap and began to kiss him.

"The poor old codger looked at him in amazement for a moment and then began kissing in his turn, crying 'Mon petit Georges! Mon petit Georges!' (when Georges was big enough to make two of him). They were both weeping copiously by now, and let me tell you I darned near cried, too, and so did my roughneck comrades.

"The son explained that his father had been a Hun hostage since the beginning of the war."

ADMITS BILL TO CONTROL TANK BUILDING

As a result of the molasses tank explosion, which cost seventeen lives, the House of Representatives today voted to admit a bill which provides that all future tank construction shall be under the absolute control of the State police.

It provides that any tank of 10,000-gallon capacity, "whethed for fluid or gas," shall be built under the authority of and regulations issued by the police. A fine of from $50 to $1,000 would be the penalty for violation of any of the provisions of the proposed law.

The bill was filed by Representative Scigliano of Ward 5.

Former Representative Brogna also filed a bill providing that a gasometre shall not be erected within 100 yards of a dwelling house. The penalty would be $1,000 a day fod every day of violation. It is expected that this bill will also be admitted for consideration.

THOUGHT KAISER IRRESPONSIBLE MENTALLY

By BERT FORD,

International News Service Staff Correspondent.

With the American Army of Occupation in Germany, Jan. 23.—Inhabitants of Spa, where German great headquarters used to be located, consider the ex-Kaiser irresponsible mentally.

Dr. S. A. Brown of the Bellevue Medical School of New York city, who accompanied Charles M. Schwab on his trip to Coblenz, today told of information he had received from high German officials at Spa who had been watching the former Emperor while he was living there.

The ex-war lord was frequently seen constructing miniature trenches on the grounds adjoining headquarters which he would afterwards have flooded with water. Again he would amuse himself by tossing pebbles over his head.

"William II. would amuse himself like a small child making mud pies," said Dr. Brown. "His train, I am informed, always had two locomotives attached, one head towards France and the other towards the interior of Germany. Either one could be detached in case of emergency."

Dr. Brown was told of the solemn conference at German great headquarters just before the former Kaiser fled into Holland. The former Emperor had been advised to abdicate. He turned to Field Marshal von Hindenburg and General Ludendorff and declared:

"I can depend upon my generals, can I not?"

Neither batted an eye, but muttered some indistinct reply.

The then Kaiser repeated his question, and the generals replied in the negative.

The expression of astonishment that spread over the face of the ex-ruler was beyond description. He quickly signed the document of abdication and was shortly afterwards whisked over the frontier into Holland, accompanied by some army officers.

Several American correspondents with slim bankrolls invited Mr. Schwab to join in a poker game at the Raspberry Country Club. Those who started with lean accounts, and who were awaiting overdue expense remittances, had visions of replenishing their bank accounts by outplaying the steel magnate.

Damon Runyon, the American correspondent, who has just recovered from a threatened attack of pneumonia, confronted Schwab with a bobtail flush. The steel king called and gloated as he scooped in the pot with a small pair. He left the club a tidy winner.

LABOR UNREST INCREASES IN GREAT BRITAIN

London, Jan. 23.—The whole of Great Britain is strike-ridden, the Star declares. The newspaper added:

"British unrest is spreading to an alarming degree. The main cause is dissatisfaction over the government's attitude regarding the establishment of a shorter workday.

"One hundred and fifty thousand Yorkshire miners will strike today as a protest against the lockout of 40,000 workmen for taking twenty minutes extra at meal time.

"The railway men have decided on a general strike to begin probably on February 9 unless an eight-hour day is established immediately.

"A general strike throughout Scotland is threatened Monday unless a forty-hour week is granted.

"One hundred thousaand workers in London are considering a general walk-out over the work-day question."

TWO VICTIMS OF GAS IN THE NORTH END

Illuminating gas claimed more victims in the North End, where Antonio Aldes was found unconscious and an unidentified man dead in a lodging house at No. 22 Hanover street. A gas cock had been opened, the police believe accidentally. Aldes is at the Relief Hospital and may recover.

'PETTED BOY' IS DESCRIBED IN BOYD CASE

Mrs. Mary C. Tanner a Witness in Hearing on Contested Petition

That Mrs. Florence M. Boyd was making a "lap dog" of a young man named Wilkinson and that another man had a key to the apartment in which Mrs. Boyd lived on Spencer avenue, Chelsea, were statements made by Mrs. Mary C. Tanner, a witness for Joseph H. Boyd in the contested divorce before Judge Cox in the Superior Court sessions today.

Mrs. Tanner also testified to a knowledge of the man Wilkinson sweeping the floor, cleaning up the house and otherwise assisting Mrs. Boyd in her household tasks.

The Wilkinson boy went there in April, 1916, on the recommendation of Mrs. Tanner's daughter.

TOLD A "LOT OF STUFF."

"If you or your daughter had known anything wrong about Mrs. Boyd, you would not have approved of his going there to room?" she was asked.

"I did not approve of his going there," she replied.

"When Mr. Wilkinson came down to see you, did you tell him anything about Mrs. Boyd?"

"Only when he told me about her putting her feet near his, under the table. Then I told him not to get too friendly with her. I thought she was not a good woman."

Mrs. Tanner said that she met Mr. Boyd in the District Attorney's office, and that her friendship with Mrs. Boyd ended there.

Witness said that after Wilkinson came down stairs and told her "a lot of stuff about my daughter," she wrote a letter to Mrs. Boyd.

The following letter written to Mrs. Boyd by Mrs. Tanner was introduced as evidence:

"Mrs. Boyd: When Billy came to see me, 16 years old, he was a poor, friendless boy. I took him in and made him one of my family. When Violet got him to board with you, she was under the impression that she was doing something to help both of you and that Billy would be happier to be in the same house with us.

"I am sorry to say that he has changed very much. For the past two months he has been giving us black looks and spends all his spare time indoors with you.

"You are making a lapdog of him, letting him out only when you are absent from home yourself. You are filling his mind with evil thoughts.

FRIENDSHIP BROKEN OFF.

"I want you to know that Violet is a good girl and she also works for her living. Now I must say that further friendship between us is impossible.

"I would have more respect for a thief and a murderer than I would for a smiling two-faced sneak and liar. I do not desire to enter into any agreement with you lest I tell you a few thing about yourself.

"You can keep Billy with you. He is no friend of ours while he is under your influence. If you tell any more things about Violet I will give you a chance to explain them in the Chelsea court.

"MRS. M. C. TANNER.

"Please tell your friend in Salem to send no more letters in my daughter's case, as we do not know you."

Mrs. Tanner repeated, under cross-examination, that the man named "Bennett" had a key to the house of Mrs. Boyd, and came and went as he chose. She said that she sat up in her bed and saw Bennett enter the house at 12:40 one Sunday morning, and that he was there on Sunday.

"What did you get for all your bother, Mrs. Tanner?"

"I got a lot of bother myself, and several summonses."

TEMPERANCE POLICEMAN SETTLES LIQUOR PUZZLE

Worcester, Jan. 23.—Policeman Francis W. Conway, although a rigid temperance man, has a taste for liquor, but only as a matter of business. The officer appeared as witness in the trial of Rocco De Lorenzo charged with selling liquor illegally. Some of the liquid taken was produced in court. The question was raised whether it was really liquor. Officer Conway tasted it and pronounced it liquor. A fine of $200 was imposed.

Drake, supervisor of the sea training at the Shipping Board Recruiting Service Base, East Boston, has announced the appointment of John Thompson, formerly attached to the board's sea service bureau at New Orleans, as executive officer of the S. S. Meade of the Atlantic training squadron. Mr. Thompson was a chief warrant boatswain when he left the naval service a few years ago.

WORCESTER MAJOR IS REWARDED FOR BRAVERY

Worcester, Jan. 23.—Letters received here today from Major Thomas F. Foley, 101st Infantry, tell of his having been wounded and now almost fully recovered. He also adds that he had Christmas dinner with President and Mrs. Wilson. A communication received by Mrs. Foley tells of the major having been awarded the distinguished service medal for bravery.

URGE SEGREGATION OF MENTAL DEFECTIVES

Providence, Jan. 23.—Segregation of mental defectives for their own good and that of society is sought in a resolution passed by the board of trustees of Butler Hospital. "Such a program is dictated by kindness as well as scientific prudence," says the report.

'MATTY' MAKES GOOD TOSSING GAS BALLS

Former Giant Pitcher Busy Keeping a Big Class Busy Overseas

By BERT FORD,

International News Service Staff Correspondent.

With the American Army of Occupation, by Courier to Nancy, Jan. 23.—Captain Christy Mathewson, erstwhile Giant pitcher and manager of the Cincinnati Reds, gas officer in tht 28th Division made up of Pennsylvania troops, is as busy as a beaver these days at Camp Colombey-les-Pelles, instructing large classes of doughboys in the mysteries of gas shells. Colonel W. C. H. Weenez, division chief-of-staff, visited Coblenz today and brought the latest news about Matty.

"Christy is very popular with the boys," Colonel Weenez said. "He has the knack of making soldiers deliver lectures to his classes on their experiences in battles. The first thing you know they are talking their heads off and giving many practical ideas to their comrades.

"Matty had hard luck and arrived at the firing line almost too late. Most of the officers and men on the transport he came across on were seized with the grip after they landed. Matty spent a month in the hospital. Then he joined the Twenty-eighth on the Argonne front. He took part in some raids before the armistice was signed, but arrived too late for the major operations.

"Our outfit, composed of Pennsylvania troops, is undergoing some stiff training these days. Our schools are attended by 1,000 men weekly. They are being instructed in the use of machine guns, one-pounders, Maxims and automatic rifles.

"They use 80,000 rounds of boche ammunition every week, which means that each man fires eighty rounds. Wonderful results are being obtained. The men now are familiar with all kinds of weapons and could be transferred in an emergency anywhere.

"The men enjoy the target practice.

"Matty is tossing gas shells instead of baseballs these days, preparatory to Spring training."

On the death of the sisters the fund will revert to Bowdoin College. Bequests of $1,000 each are made to the Newton Y. M. C. A., New England Kurn Hattin Homes' Association, Old Folks' Home Association of Brunswick, Me., and the public library, Brunswick, Me.

Bookworm Thieves Operating at Harvard

Sophocles, Petronius and Ovid are on French leave from Harvard, and the library fathers there are making diligent search to locate their missing treasures. Book vandals are at work in the Farnsworth room in the college library, and their borrowings, if not thefts, of books are twice as many as they were in the preceding two years of its existence put together.

Sophocles, and the two other ancient philosophers, through the medium of their works disappeared early from the Farnsworth room, in which the rule is that the student can read but not take the books from the premises. The works of O. Henry are also a tempting morsel for the unscrupulous bookworm, while the writings of Richard Harding Davis and Conrad are among the latest victims of the collegiate raider.

Unless the practice ceases, college authorities say that the Farnsworth room established as a war memorial may be closed. The many would then have to suffer for the failings of the few.

DIVORCEE ASKS $50,000 FOR LOST LOVE

New York, Jan. 23.—Fifty thousand dollars is the amount that Mrs. Alice Maud Voight, a divorcee, asks for her wounded love and humiliation in a suit against Oliver Humphrey, wealthy stockbroker.

Mrs. Voight alleges that they were to have been married on October 31, and when she visited the city clerk's office with Humphrey on October 28 to obtain a license he had forgotten his divorce papers. He promised to bring them the next day, she alleges, and then disappeared.

She says she followed him to his mother's home in Utica where he put his promise to marry her in writing, but the date of the wedding was postponed to December 9.

She has learned, she says, that Humphrey was married to Marjorie White Phillips on November 25.

CONDUCTOR FINED $25 FOR ROW ON STREET CAR

Thomas J. Quinn, twenty-five, a conductor on the Somerville avenue-Clarendon Hill line, was fined $25 by Judge Wentworth in the Somerville court today on complaint of Timothy J. Sullivan of Hawkins street, Somerville. Quinn appealed and was held in $200. Sullivan said he was riding on Quinn's outbound cor on January 14 and that he signalled Quinn to stop at Hawkins street. Sullivan was carried a number of blocks beyond. Some words were passed, Sullivan said, and Quinn swore at him and hit him over the head with an iron switch stick.

WORKMEN FOR CORPORATION DIRECTORS

Senator Loring Offers Solution of Capital and Labor Problem

Senator Augustus P. Loring of Beverly, director in a score of powerful corporations, today declared that one of the best means of checking the spread of socialism and anarchy was to give the employes a voice in the management of the industries in which they toil.

Appearing before the Committee on Municipal Finance, Senator Loring supported his own bill which provides that any corporation may permit employes to become members of the board of directors.

"I don't claim that this will be the panacea," said Senator Loring, "but I do claim that it is an experiment well worth trying. It will not prove an entering wedge of socialism, but will serve as a healthy preventive of socialism and anarchy.

"There are three classes in every corporation, the men who work with their hands, the stockholders and the managers. The first is the only class not represented in the management. Many employes own stock in the corporations for which they work, but none of them have representation in the boards of directors.

"Let the employes elect their own director by secret ballot, and we will have a better understanding between capital and labor. One thing is certain—there never will be any strikes or lockouts that both sides won't know about in advance. Representation on the boards of directors will encourage co-operation between employer and employe."

"In what kind of corporations do the employes own stock in?" said a committeeman.

"In the successful ones," replied Mr. Loring.

"Our corporations," he continued, "make a practice of seeking the advice of our old employes, some of whom have been with us fifty years. We invariably find the advice to be of value."

Charles J. Hodsdon of the American Federation of Labor said he felt that labor would not oppose the bill if it required the employes' director to be elected by the employes by secret ballot.

"Otherwise," he said, "we would see the directors' pets selected as the 'labor representative.' This scheme would be used to destroy our organizations."

BILL IN HOUSE TO REGULATE "TAG DAYS"

An act "to prevent the abuse of tag days" was today admitted by the House of Representatives for future consideration. It provides that no collections shall be made unless formally approved by the local governing body of cities and towns and imposes a fine ranging from $10 to $500 for violation of its provisions.

PEACE CONFERENCE TO ATTEMPT SOLUTION OF LABOR PROBLEM

By DR. E. J. DILLON.

Special Cable to the Boston American and Philadelphia Public Ledger.

(Copyright in the United States and Canada by the Philadelphia Ledger Company. Copyright in Europe by London Daily Telegraph.)

Paris, Jan. 23.—Conclusive testimony to the powerful stress of the political tendency that takes its rise in the labor movement is given by the high place allotted by the Peace Conference in its first session to legislation on the subject of international labor and by the weight which the framers of the program evidently attach to it.

The object of the statutes which will be framed, and doubtless passed, is twofold; first, the maintenance during the transitional economic crisis with which the world is threatened of all those checks and restrictions on unfair competition, excessive hours of work, and employment of children which were accepted by various nations in normal times; and, secondly, the conversion of the principle that labor shall in the future secure for satisfactory economic conditions not merely national but international sanction.

This implicit admission that the realization of a league of nations is out of the question without the active co-operation of labor marks a considerable advance in the political conceptions of the European statesmen, but whether the practical conclusions they will draw from it will be deemed adequate by the class most interested, which insists on uplifting its own voice and formulating its own postulates, is doubtful.

What the step now taken really means is that statesmen, having had contact with the masses, and awakened to the trend of popular movements are endeavoring to accomplish by timely legislation the partial reforms which revolution would more thoroughly and wastefully achieve by force.

HARD TO FORETELL EFFECT.

Whether this installment of the settlement, which to be adequate ought to have a much broader basis, will take the wind out of the labor party's sails and reconcile it to the new political order of things which so far agrees with the old that it recognizes the need for the perpetuation of military and naval forces for defence against aggression, and for the occupation of enemy territory, it would be rash to affirm or deny.

The conference proposes to begin by obtaining the views of each government as to the most suitable composition of a committee to which study of problems capable of being dealt with by international legislation might fitly be confided. Among the matters already deemed ripe for such treatment are the determination of the hours of labor throughout the globe, and the conditions of work which shall be declared intolerable and treated as such.

How many hours workmen may be allowed to toil without exposing their employers to the penalties which will be decreed against sweaters, apparently will be determined not in the abstract, but congruously with the varying productive capacity of the workmen, according to the countries; thus a Russian laborer, it is estimated, takes ten hours to achieve a task which an American would achieve in five or six.

NOT ALL WILL JOIN IN.

I am not revealing a diplomatic secret when I affirm that unmistakable tokens point to the unwillingness of certain States to accept regulations which would, in their opinion, handicap the productivity of their country. I am convinced Germany will demur offhand to restrictions which would prolong indefinitely the transitional period during which the military occupation of her territory will be continued, as an alternative to the full payment of indemnities and will regard these restrictions as a pretext for putting pressure on the country.

Respecting Japan's views I have no positive information, but am disposed to believe that having secured lucrative far eastern markets, and made costly arrangements for supplying them at prices advantageous to the buyer and seller, she would require potent motives before acquiesing in a series of limitations established at the instance of her competitors, and perhaps without sufficient knowledge of her special requirements and peculiar difficulties.

Moreover any international labor code worthy of the name and capable of satisfying European democracies presupposes an international vigilance bureau, whose efforts would be bent towards the discovery of violations of statutes, and whose intervention would be resented by the governments of the peoples concerned.

COMPLETE REVOLUTION COMING.

These anticipatory criticisms, however, should not discourage praiseworthy endeavors which, to be successful, need only to be thorough. The dangerous ferment now going forward in the labor world throughout Europe will not subside until a complete revolution has taken place, not merely in material conditions in which the individual now works, lives and maintains his family, but in all the complex relations between him and the employer, between centres of production and means of transport to home and foreign markets, between the producer and consumer, between the laboring millions and the leisured ten thousand.

Doubtless the conference feels called upon to make a beginning, and believes the remainder of the enterprise may safely be left to some permanent international board, whose function will be gradually, as each problem becomes ripe for solution, to carry the reform further until a systematic radical change of labor conditions can be effected.

Whether this empiric mode of approaching the subject as a purely practical application will commend itself to those who have pressed it upon the governments is to me doubtful. Unquestionably the most pressing need of the moment, in view of the impending economic crisis, is for labor in progressive lands, where it has ceased to be mere drudgery and won for itself certain rights and means of asserting them, now to safeguard them against foreign competition, rendered keen by bankruptcy and hardship.

FUNDAMENTALS UNTOUCHED.

This, however, is a matter of transient urgency, which leaves the fundamentals untouched. One of the basic principles which labor leaders, if they discern their own interests and the trend of progress will surely endeavor to have recognized, is that everything the individual possesses he owes to the community, and must not only acknowledge the debt, but pay it.

The present labor movement is distinguished from previous ferments by this, that it constitutes a mere episode in a universal insurgency of the masses, who are fast breaking through the thin social crust formed by the upper classes, and emerging above surface. This disturbance is the direct result of many causes, among which are over-population of the world, spread of education, equal opportunity, anonymity of industrial enterprises, scientific and unscientific theories, specialization of labor and its depressing influence.

These factors produced a labor organization which the railways, newspapers and telegraphs contributed to perfect, and now all mankind is tending steadily and painfully to become one vast collectivity for producing and sharing on more equitable lines the means of living decently. This change is coming with the facility of a natural law and the utmost the wisest governments can do is to direct it through pacific channels and dislodge artificial obstacles to its course.

One of the first reforms towards which labor is tending with more or less conscious effort is the abolition of the hereditary principle in the possession of wealth and influence and the means of obtaining them.

MASSES HOLD POWER.

The division of labor in the past ages caused dissociation of the so-called nobler avocations from manual work and gradually those who followed higher pursuits grew into a hereditary caste were immune from the worst hardships of life's struggle and formed a hereditary ruling race. Today masses have their hands on the principal levers for shattering this top crust of social sphere and are resolved to press them.

672 NEW CASES OF PLAGUE IN NEW YORK

New York, Jan. 23.—Increased influenza and pneumonia cases in New York have brought forth from health officials a solemn warning that every precaution must be taken to avoid another serious epidemic. RUSSIAN GOVERNMENT'S RIGHT TO SUE QUESTIONED

New York, Jan. 23.—Can the Russian government bring court action in this country? If so, who is the Russian government? Such are the complex questions confronting Federal Judge Mayer here. The Lehigh Valley Railroad has challenged the right of Frederick R. Coudert to appear for the Russian government in a threatened suit for several million dollars' damages growing out of the Black Tom explosion. In filing his challenge, Attorney Charles A. Boston, for the railroad, quoted President Wilson as having said: "There is no Russian government."

NORTH END WAR HERO SAW HIS CHUM SLAIN

"Vincent Cuttillo Was Game," Says Sergeant Gaetano at Camp Devens

By THOMAS F. PHELAN.

Camp Devens, Ayer, Jan. 23.—Sergeant Alferi Gaetano of A Company, 101st Infantry, whose home is at No. 23 Henchman street, North End, has many relics from the battlefields in France.

"We were in the trenches from February 7, 1918, until the armistice was signed, with the exception of the many times we were exposed to the terrible machine gunfire of the enemy," he said. "Sleep was an unknown quantity. Up in the Toul sector there were no dugouts, and we had to lay in mud, shave with coffee and sleep on a firing pit.

"Christmas Day Captain McConnell gave us a treat. He bought us refreshments and sang with us. In an address to us Captain McConnell told us that we'd have to suffer for awhile because we were the first troops over. He said he'd see to it that we'd get clothing and be more comfortable. His death occurred while he was acting major. I was in the hospital at the time.

WAS GASSED TWICE.

"You see, I was gassed twice and hit with a club or the butt of a gun in the hands of a German. It was a tough fight between us, but I came out on top. My chum, Vincent Cuttillo, who lived at No. 8 Noyes place, opposite the fire house on Salem street, North End, wasn't so lucky. His head was blown off. We were always together. It was tough to see him killed. I hated to come home and think that he was behind. He died a good death, though. He was to confession the night before and received communion in the morning from Chaplain O'Connor. That boy is sure in heaven. He was a game guy and my good old pal.

"Father O'Connor gave each boy a pair of rosary beads when we went into the trenches. We can never forget Fr. O'Connor and Chaplain Rollins.

"I never heard of Colonel Logan being removed from the regiment. We thought he was home. We heard he was gassed and came here with Chaplain Rollins. The boys were surprised when they landed to learn that he was supplanted by another. I'd like to see him replaced and head the regiment if it ever parades in Boston.

SEARCHED ALL BODIES.

"We found lots of pictures on dead bodies of Germans at Chateau Thierry. There wasn't a dead body of a German that wasn't searched. It seemed to be a battle for relics when we'd come near a dead German. Of course, people may think it gruesome, but the men were dead and everything they had would have been buried with them.

"Every other German we encountered had a machine gun, and maybe they couldn't make them spit. There was one German, a sergeant-major, and when we asked him what he thought of the Americans he said he knew Germany would lose if America entered the fight. He said that was the feeling among the men of his company."

A Home Made Gray Hair Remedy

Gray, streaked or faded hair can be immediately made black, brown or light brown, which ever shade you desire, by the use of the following remedy that you can make at home:

Merely get a box of Orlex powder at any drug store. It costs very little and no extras to buy. Dissolve it in 4 oz. of distilled or rain water and comb it through the hair. Directions for mixing and use come in each box.

You need not hesitate to use Orlex, as a $100.00 gold bond comes in each box guaranteeing the user that Orlex powder does not contain silver, lead, zinc, sulphur, mercury, aniline, coal-tar products or their derivatives.

It does not rub off, is not sticky or gummy and leaves the hair fluffy. It will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger.—Advertisement.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, at very little cost. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.—Advertisement.

An attempt to wreck a train on the Saugus branch tracks of the Boston and Maine at Malden is now under investigation by Malden police and railroad detectives. The engineer saw the timber in time to apply the emergency brakes so that the train was moving slowly when the engine struck the timber.

SAYS LEGISLATURE FAILED TO SAFEGUARD CHILDREN

"If women had the vote, would Massachusetts legislators in 1918 have defeated the six most important measures for the protection of women and children in industry?" asked Mrs. Osborne Pinkham, executive secretary of the Boston Equal Suffrage Association, at a meeting of the Woman's Alliance in Bulfinch Place Church. Mrs. Pinkham is a member of the Minimum Wage Board for scrubwomen.

MOTHER OF 6 IN SERVICE SIGNS PAY APPEAL

Edward J. Murray, U. S. N.

William F. Murray, 17th Cavalry

Chester T. Murray, 104th Infantry

Ralph M. Murray, 104th Infantry

Francis H. Murray, U. S. N.

John C. H. Murray, 60th Infantry

One of the signers of the petition for six months' pay for honorably discharged soldiers and sailors is Mrs. Jeremiah C. Murray of No. 100 L street, South Boston.

"I have six boys in the service, the youngest but seventeen, and I am proud of the fact that they are all serving the colors," said Mrs. Murray. "Two of my sons were wounded at Chateau Thierry, Corporal Chester T. and Ralph M., both of whom will arrive home, I believe, in the near future."

"I guess the fighting instinct is in their blood. My grandfather fought under the great Napoleon and my father, Peter Navel, fought in the Civil War. In fact on my mother's side I could trace my ancestors back who fought under General Washington, and the family has been fighting down to the present time. You might say that all my family with the exception of my daughter Marion, my husband and myself have given their services to Uncle Sam during the recent great crisis.

"I am pleased that the war is over and that I will see my boys again, but if there was another war those boys would go through the same thing again and I could not stop them if I wanted to."

PAINS AND ACHES YIELD QUICKLY TO SLOAN'S LINIMENT

Are you tormented by Neuralgia, Lumbago, Sciatica or any of those aches that require a counter-irritant? Then let the soothing, warming application of Sloan's Liniment stop the pain by drawing the blood away from the congested part.

It is the pressure on the nerves by the blood rushing to the inflamed muscle or joint that makes you ache. So when Sloan's Liniment relieves the swollen blood vessels by setting up a counter-irritant on the surface, the circulation is equalized, sympathetic nerves all soothed, and soreness or lameness disappears.

Sloan's Liniment is probably the counter-irritant most widely used to overcome painful inflammation in cases of neuralgia, sore muscles, wrenched joints, strains, bruises, gout. Rubbing is not required. This clear, clean liquid is easily applied, as it does not stain the skin.

Generous size bottles at your druggist's, 30c, 60c, $1.20.

To Become Mistress of Air Britain's New Ambition

London, Jan. 23.—To be mistress of the air is Great Britain's new ambition, according to speakers at the dinner of the Imperial Air Fleet held to celebrate the British empire's war victories in the clouds. Air routes to all dominions of the crown were advocated by General Seeley, under secretary to the air ministry, who said:

"All will not come at once, but if you have a good plan and if you work to that end, I am sure we can build up a service not only good but far better than that possessed by any other nation. In this effort to increase air traffic throughout the world for the good of the world at large, we have meant to secure first place in generous rivalry."

The judges were: Reginald W. Bird, chairman of the State Food Production Committee; Professor Phelps and Professor Francis of Amherst Agricultural College. The letters were restricted to 200 words each, but were unrestricted in range of subject. In the announcement of their decision the judges commended many of the letters submitted and added to the list of winners ten names for honorable mention. They are:

N. D. White of No. 134 Webster street, Needham; Tom Smith, High street, Billerica; Edward S. Larney, No. 318 High street, Bridgewater; Marion Endicott Tyler, Middleton; Bessie I. Smith, R. F. D. No. 45B, Northboro; John H. Carnegie, No. 77 Gustine street, Dorchester; Wilfred Rich Tuttle, No. 27 Elmore street, Arlington Heights; Mrs. M. H. Way, No. 29 Mapes street, Dorchester; Mrs. Robert Jones, No. 41 Park street, Penacook, and Minnie Reddick, No. 2 Independent street, Newburyport.

FIRST PRIZE LETTER.

The letter winning the first prize was selected, the judges state, because the writer shows in detail how to rotate crops and utilize to the utmost a small garden space. This letter, by Peter Anderson, of Wellesley Oaks, and dated October 10, follows:

I have a war garden about 4,000 square feet and I have not bought any food except what could not be grown in my garden, such as meat and flour, since the 15th of June. This is how I did it:

I planted my early Ohio potatoes the 15th of April; about the first of May, beets, carrots, parsnips and onions. I planted the beets and carrots quite thick, and used them as we needed them all Summer, and I have enough for all Winter in the cellar.

In the middle of May I planted Kentucky Wonder pole beans alongside the hen wire fence, and I have three pecks of shell beans which I got for nothing, as they take up no room. I next put in squashes, bush beans, corn, peas and tomatoes.

On July 1 I took up the onions and planted turnips in their place; at the same time I planted cabbage plants between the rows of potatoes. I dug the potatoes the first week in August and left the cabbage standing. I have now 400 head of growing cabbage besides ten bushels of potatoes, all on the same piece of land.

I also planted some more beans after the potatoes. I got some, and if the frost had not come so early I would have got quite a crop. But I think I have done quite well. I am not worrying about Winter. I have my cellar full.

I have raised two crops on most of my land. I have also a flock of hens that goes with every garden.

SECOND PRIZE LETTER.

Mrs. Martha W. Lawrence, who won the second prize, wrote her account in two sections; one on the crops, and one explaining the layout of the garden. The letter follows:

Our one-eighth acre garden paid well this year, though the crops are not remarkable, and anyone else could do as well. By different planning we expect to do better next year.

The cost was $27.44 for rent of land, fertilizer, plowing, seeds and plants. Seed corn was saved from last year, also the seed of the potatoes. From records kept, at reasonable prices, we have gathered $97.46 worth of fruit and vegetables, with at least $6.50 worth still in the ground—a total of $102.96.

We raised eleven bushels of potatoes, eighty pounds of Winter squash, sixty pounds of pumpkins, $11.16 worth of corn, $5.54 peas, $3.64 string beans, $12.49 tomatoes, $5.82 Summer squash, onions, beets, greens, lettuce, radishes, cauliflower, cabbages, turnips, kohl-rabi, dried beans, shell beans and raspberries. We have had all the vegetables we could use during the Summer, gave some to friends, and sold $20 worth at reasonable prices.

We have now seven and one-half bushels of potatoes, seventy pounds of squash, fifty pounds of pumpkins, fifteen cabbages, fifty quarts of canned vegetables, and still in the ground about one bushel each of white and rutabaga turnips, young carrots and young beets, three rows of chard, lettuce and cauliflower, and parsnips and spinach to be covered until Spring. We have eight large perfect ears of corn for seed. We had lettuce, spinach and chard in May, our first potatoes July 10, and the last good ears of corn October 24.

DESCRIBES PLANNING.

Mrs. Lawrence describes the planning of her garden as follows:

Our one-eighth acre was in three parts; our back yard, a small plot started in July, and a large piece which we hired. At the back of the largest piece we planted sixteen rows of Green Mountain potatoes, then a row of pole beans and a wide row of Winter squashes and pumpkins. Next several rows of early cobbler potatoes which we began to dig July 10, training the squash vines so that when the last potatoes were dug the patch was covered by the vines. We covered some of the joints with earth to help the vines make roots to feed on the good soil of the potato patch and cheat the borers. I used a hatpin to dig out borers.

Next were rows of lima beans, tall beans, tomatoes, another row of pole beans, Summer squash and parsnips. Then rows of early peas, carrots and beets. We started the corn at the other end of the patch, a few rows at a time, the last rows coming between the early peas, carrots and beets, which were over before the corn was tall enough to shade.

As crops were gathered the vines were removed and the soil spaded and fertilized, and beets, turnips or cabbages transplanted from the small garden, or seeds sown for late beets and carrots. Cabbages were set between the bean poles, and a hill of baking beans was planted between every other row, at the ends of the potato rows.

Lucy Nicastri, fourteen years old, third prize winner, raised her garden on land belonging to a neighbor.

When I told him I wanted to give Mr. Wilhelm a licking, she writes, he told me I could take as much of the field as I wanted.

I worked at least five hours daily, continues the letter. When people saw me work so hard they told me I was very foolish to waste my energy on that ashy soil; nevertheless I worked very diligently. I planted potatoes, carrots, radishes, lettuce, cabbages, pumpkins, Summer and Winter squash, cucumbers, sweet corn, tomatoes, onions, string beans, turnips and cantaloupes.

After my plants came up an unexpected trouble came up—it did not rain. Since I did not have a hose and I lived too far, my mother and I dug a little well in the swamp near by. Later I was troubled with potato bugs and cabbage worms; the former I treated with Paris green and on the latter I tried many different chemicals, but all in vain; I had to pick them out one by one.

I worked very hard but not in vain. I expect to have at least three sacks of potatoes. I have canned fourteen jars of beans and dried about 50 pounds. I have about 500 cabbages, tomatoes for all Winter, and some Winter squash weighing over 30 pounds.

I am going to keep my cabbages in a rectangular space, covered with hay and leaves, as I did last Winter and was very successful. I have given a great deal of my products away to friends, who would have liked to have a war garden, but are helping Uncle Sam in a different way.

On Wednesday, September 18, I contributed to the exhibition at R. H. S. and my products were afterwards sold for the benefit of the Red Cross.

I am sure that when General Pershing crosses the Rhine the Germans will say, "Why shouldn't the Americans succeed when they are so co-operative, persevering, enthusiastic and patriotic?"

CUT THIS OUT

OLD ENGLISH RECIPE FOR CATARRH, CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES.

If you know of someone who is troubled with Catarrhal Deafness, head noises or ordinary catarrh cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. In England scientists for a long time past have recognized that catarrh is a constitutional disease and necessarily requires constitutional treatment.

Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease into the middle ear, which frequently means total deafness, or else the disease may be driven down the air passages towards the lungs, which is equally as dangerous. The following formula, which is used extensively in the damp English climate, is a constitutional treatment and should prove especially efficacious to sufferers here who live under more favorable climate conditions.

Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Parmint (Double strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and hearing improve as the inflammation in the eustachian tubes is reduced. Parmint used in this way acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, and has a tonic action that helps to obtain the desired results. The preparation is easy to make, costs little and is pleasant to take. Every person who has catarrh or head noises or is hard of hearing should give this treatment a trial.

Will War Help Make New Race Of Super-men with Strength

AND ENDURANCE LIKE ATHLETES OF OLD

By Putting More Iron Into the Blood of Modern Men and Women on Account of Their Eating Coarse Foods and Leading a Rigorous Outdoor Life? Physician Says

Iron Is Absolutely Essential to Greatest Development of Physical and Mental Power.

Why Nuxated Iron by Helping to Supply the Iron Deficiency in the Blood Often Increases the Strength and Endurance of Weak, Nervous, Run-Down Folks in Two Weeks' Time.

The men of blood and iron whose indomitable force and tireless energy helped win the war owe much to the strength obtained by eating coarse foods and leading a rigorous out-door life, is the opinion of Dr. George F. Baker, formerly Physician and Surgeon, Monmouth Memorial Hospital of New Jersey.

Dr. Baker believes that these same conditions on a lesser scale have been of tremendous help to the health of men and women in civil life. In commenting upon this he says: "Just as lack of proper foods for its soldiers saps the strength of a nation, so does want of sufficient iron in the blood of men and women reduce their power and make them an easy prey to the thousands of disease germs constantly around us and always ready to attack the constitutions of the weak and run-down. It is not the quantity of food you eat which makes you strong, but it is the amount which is assimilated and taken up by the blood.

"Iron is absolutely necessary to change food into living tissue, muscle and brain. Refined foods and modern methods of cooking have robbed us of much of the iron which Nature intended we should receive and there is no doubt in my mind that the coarse foods of wartime, with their greater percentage of strength-giving iron, have materially aided in building up a stronger race of people. But unless this iron is obtained from our food it must be supplied in some form that is easily assimilated if we want to possess power, energy and endurance. For supplying this deficiency and increasing the red blood corpuscles, I know of nothing more effective than organic iron—Nuxated Iron. From a careful examination of the formula and my own tests of Nuxated Iron, I feel convinced that it is a preparation which any physician can take himself or prescribe for his patients with the utmost confidence of obtaining highly beneficial and satisfactory results. The fact that Nuxated Iron is today being used by over three million people annually as a tonic, strength and blood-builder, is in itself an evidence of tremendous public confidence, and I am convinced that if others would take Nuxated Iron when they feel weak and run-down it would help make a nation of stronger, healthier men and women."

In commenting upon these conditions and the probability of building up a stronger race of people by increasing the supply of iron in their blood, Dr. Ferdinand King, New York physician and medical author, says: "I fully agree with Dr. Baker. In the most common foods of America, the starches, sugars, table syrups, candies, polished rice, white bread, soda crackers, biscuits, macaroni, spaghetti, tapioca, sago, farina, degerminated cornmeal, no longer is iron to be found. Refining processes have removed the iron of Mother Earth from these impoverished foods, and silly methods of home cookery, by throwing down the waste pipe the water in which our vegetables are cooked, are responsible for another great iron loss.

"Therefore, you should supply the iron deficiency in your food by using some form of organic iron, just as you would use salt when your food has not enough salt. I have used Nuxated Iron widely in my own practice in most severe aggravated conditions, with unfailing results."

Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital, was asked for an opinion. Dr. Sullivan said: "Modern methods of cooking and the rapid pace at which people of this country live has made such an alarming increase in iron deficiency in the blood of American men and women that I have often marveled at the large number of people who lack iron in the blood—and who never suspect the cause of their weak, nervous, run-down state. But in my opinion, you can't make strong, sturdy men of blood and iron—the kind that helped win the war—by feeding them on metallic iron. The old forms of metallic iron must go through a digestive process to transform them into organic iron—Nuxated Iron—before they are ready to be taken up and assimilated by the human system. Notwithstanding all that has been said and written on this subject by well-known physicians, thousands of people still insist in dosing themselves with metallic iron, simply, I suppose, because it costs a few cents less. I strongly advise readers in all cases to get a physician's prescription for organic iron—Nuxated Iron—or if you don't want to go to this trouble, then purchase only Nuxated Iron in its original packages and see that this particular name (Nuxated Iron) appears on the package. If you have taken preparations such as Nux and Iron and other similar iron products and failed to get results, remember that such products are an entirely different thing from Nuxated Iron.

MANUFACTURERS' NOTE—Nuxated Iron, which is prescribed and recommended above by physicians, is not a secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products, it is easily assimilated and does not injure the teeth, make them black nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed by all good druggists.

other departments and governmental agencies.

Thus there is placed at the disposal of relatives and friends of soldiers, sailors and marines and the uniformed men themselves the complete and extensive service of not only each of the bureaus in Boston, New York, Atlanta, Chicago, San Francisco and Los Angeles, but of a central bureau here at Washington.

As Washington is the place where the policies of the government relating to the treatment of its soldiers are finally formulated, where wrongs, if any, must be righted and where mistakes, if any, must be corrected, the national headquarters will serve as a powerful aid in the achievement of the clearly defined purposes of the undertaking planned and conducted by the Hearst newspapers in the interests of America's uniformed men and officers.

In view of the scope and character of the work of the organization, the establishment of headquarters here, within a stone's throw of the Capitol, White House and departments, has aroused keen interest in Congressional and official circles as well as among thousands of soldiers and sailors whose duties from time to time bring them to Washington.

Moreover, the army of readers of the Hearst newspapers throughout the country have the opportunity at this moment of directing and materially aiding in the work.

With only thirty-six more legislative days of the present session remaining before March 4, Congress has utterly failed thus far to provide any comprehensive scheme of fair and just treatment for the nation's returned and home-coming heroes.

Regardless of whether or not an extra session of Congress is called in the Spring or Summer, this session ought to adequately provide for the country's discharged soldiers. Congress should be enlightened as to the sentiment of the citizens at large being unmistakably in favor of an immediate program of fair and liberal treatment.

The suggested bonus of six months' pay for discharged soldiers, sailors and marines is really the minimum allowance which in fairness and justice should be offered the men. The Senate has passed a bill providing for one month's pay. This is not enough.

Senator Ashurst will propose an amendment for three months' pay. Neither would such a provision meet the requirements of the men. It is proposed to treat the civilian war-workers in the departments here on a much more liberal scale.

America—the creditor nation of the world—cannot afford to be less considerate of her soldiers than devastated and suffering France which is already doing more for her fighting Congress.

The opportunity is now presented of urging Congress to measure up to the conservative allowance of six months' pay and thus help the men who got into uniform for Uncle Sam to get back into harness for themselves and their families.

BUREAUS TO CO-OPERATE.

The Washington headquarters will operate in direct telegraphic connection with this and each of the associated bureaus of the Hearst newsmen than has yet been suggested in papers. All branches of the soldiers' service bureau will also be in constant communication with each other.

All inquiries and requests for information and action within the broad scope of the work planned by the civic organization should be addressed directly to the Soldiers' Service Bureau, in care of the nearest Hearst paper.

Auxiliary of 101st Engineers Indorse 6-Months Pay Plan

Citizens' associations and auxiliaries of fighting regiments are joining with the G. A. R. Auxiliary in endorsing the Boston American "Soldiers' Friend" petition for six months pay for returning soldiers, which now bears the signatures of 150,000 men and women of Massachusetts.

The latest to endorse the plan is the Brockton Ladies' Auxiliary of the heroic 101st Regiment of Engineers, the famous regiment which was thrown into a gaping hole in the line at Chateau-Thierry during the German drive and which held its position against a storm of shrapnel and machine gun bullets. It later joined in the counter-attack which turned the tide of the war.

The Germantown Citizens' Association, through J. E. Sullivan, secretary, has also endorsed the plan and the Jewish Advocate editorially praises it.

No petition in the history of the State ever had such a large following or appealed to people of such wide-spread interests as has this petition to regard the fighting men of the nation, and to bring about the discharge as quickly as may be of all men in the service.

The Soldiers' Friend also announces today the formation of the Patriotic Volunteer Medical Aid Association composed of physicians of standing who will give free medical treatment to discharged soldiers, sailors and marines who are ill and out of funds. The number of service men who are in this condition is much larger than is generally supposed.

It is to prevent these men from being classed as paupers or unfortunates and to save needless suffering that the American has brought about the organization of this association. The physicians responded willingly and gladly, but several more are needed, especially in the West and North Ends. The generosity of the physicians is one of the encouraging things in the effort of the Soldiers' Friend to be of service in every possible way to returned service men.

Secretary Sullivan of the Germantown Citizens' Association writes that the members unanimously endorsed the idea of six months' pay for the service men and praised the splendid originality of the Boston American for the idea.

"A splendid investment towards normal peace conditions in America," is the view of Secretary Sullivan and the Citizens' Association.

WOMEN GIVE THEIR AID.

In sending in the signatures of sixty-three members of the Brookline Ladies Auxiliary of the 101st Regiment of Engineers, which meets at Cambridge, Mrs. L. A. Youlden did so with the modest request that by vote of the auxiliary they be added to the list of the many who have signed the petition.

Commenting upon the petition, the Jewish Advocate says editorially:

"The Jewish Advocate strongly endorses the movement initiated by the Boston American to secure six months' pay for our returning soldiers. It is not a distinctly Jewish movement to be sure. It is an American movement and most of us are already convinced that to be deemed good Jews we must also be worthy Americans.

"Six months' pay may mean something to a man who must literally start life over again, to look for new opportunities or to recover one which was blossoming in his favor prior to his leave.

"If the Boston American will succeed in its undertaking, every one in the country will feel indebted to it for this splendid, unselfish service."

A resolution urging upon Congress that war bonuses be given to returning soldiers, sailors and marines passed the New York Legislature unanimously. Not a voice was raised against it, Republicans and Democrats joining hands in adopting it.

A similar resolution is before the Massachusetts' Legislature urging that the heroism and sacrifices of the men of all branches of the service be recognized by Congress. A hearing upon the resolution is soon to take place.

Scores of discharged service men out of work have called upon the Soldiers' Friend for aid in finding positions. Many pathetic stories are told. Some of the men declare that the employers are trying to "beat down" the price of labor by offering them their old jobs back at reduced wages. One soldier declared that he was offered a position he held eleven months ago at just half of what he received before enlisting.

Petition to the Secretary of War to Send Soldiers Home With Six Months' Pay

Sign this petition, get your friends to sign it, and forward it to the Boston American, 80 Summer Street, Boston, Mass.

To the Honorable Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War:

The undersigned respectfully urge you to return to their homes as soon as possible the soldiers who have accomplished so brilliantly every object America had in the war.

We urge, also, that you obtain the necessary authority to pay these men their military wages for six months, or for some sufficient period after their discharge from the army until they can obtain useful and remunerative employment.

We urge this as an act of simple justice by a great nation to its heroes.

(Signed)

ARE YOU A FIGHTER?

Or Are You a Fatalist.
Let Every Citizen Fight Disease.
Never Surrender.

The Big Gun of Defence Is Cadomene Tablets—Tonic

What class suffered most from the epidemic of influenza? Authorities everywhere agree that those in a temporary state of "low vitality" made up the major portion of fatalities.

If you are a fatalist, you will not believe in preparedness, but if you are a "fighter" you will see the wisdom of keeping your body and nervous system strong, so that disease will not find fertile soil in which to carry on its ravages.

Medicine rightly used at the right time is like the "Big Guns in War." If your vitality is low, you "catch cold" all too readily, you are weak, nervous and ailing with aches and pains of unknown origin, you tire easily and are irritable and often sleepless at night; digestion is faulty, liver and bowels irregular, appetite fickle and you never feel bright and happy as you once did. Strange tremors seize you, memory seems failing and many of the joys of life are denied you, through lack of energy and ambition.

Three grain Cadomene Tablets were formulated by a brilliant medical man, just for the treatment and restoration to health of those who suffer as perhaps you do.

Millions of packages have been sold in the past few years, and your druggist can supply you and help you fight disease conditions.—Advertisement.

SAYS WORKMEN AND SOLDIERS MAY UNITE

New York, Jan. 23.—Warning that soldiers and workmen will form alliances in this country as they have done in other countries unless the workingmen are given a square deal, is sounded in a statement by Frank P. Walsh, published today in the New York American.

"In two recent New York strikes—the waiters and the harbor men—organized employers brought soldiers as strike-breakers," declares the former joint chairman of the War Labor Board. "If this method is not stopped, we shall see in this country organizations of workingmen and soldiers similar to committees that have been formed in other countries."

Mr. Walsh, in urging the eight-hour day and adequate compensation, declares that owing to the increased cost of living, workers suffered an actual diminution of wages during the war.

THIRD OF 26TH AMONG KILLED OR WOUNDED

How the gallant troops of the 26th Division helped to turn the tide of battle in France during the dark days of last July, and how they later joined in the allied thrust which crushed the armies of Germany, is told by statistics secured from the official War Department reports by Governor Coolidge.

The figures show that the men led by General Clarence R. Edwards entered the front line trenches at Chemin-des-Dames on February 6 and after periods of training engaged in the battles of Chateau-Thierry, St. Mihiel, Bois Brule or Apremont, Seicheprey, Flivrey, Kivray-Marvoisin and north of Verdun.

During this time the New England troops captured 3,148 officers and men besides an immense amount of supplies. They also gained a tremendous amount of ground.

11,955 AMONG CASUALTIES.

When the division landed in France it consisted of 30,000 men. Of this number 11,955 were listed among the casualties, including 1,730 killed, 3,624 wounded severely, 2,819 wounded slightly, 3,363 gassed, 283 missing and 136 prisoners.

The division was in heavy fighting from July 18, when it entered the lists at Chateau-Thierry. In less than four months it suffered most of its losses. This shows the calls made upon the New England boys in some of the fiercest fighting of the war.

The data issued by the Governor follows:

New England Governors Plan to Extend 26th Heroes Royal Welcome

"We'll give Boston the whole State if necessary to entertain the 26th Division when it returns," declared Governor Livingston Beeckman of Rhode Island.

Governor Milliken of Maine announces that the welcoming of the 26th Division would be taken up with the Legislature and that he was certain that everything possible would be done to honor the brave heroes.

Governor Clement of Vermont said that he would do everything in his power to receive the 26th Division as it should be, but that no definite plans had been made as yet.

The Vermont Society of Boston, however, is planning to give the boys from the Green Mountain State a hearty welcome.

HARVARD LIBERAL CLUB IS HOST TO EASTMAN

A dinner to Joseph B. Eastman, recently appointed to the Interstate Commerce Commission, was given in the City Club by the Harvard Liberal Club of Boston and the Intercollegiate Liberal Club of Boston. Joseph Walker presided. Commissioner Eastman, in his address, spoke of the tendency toward public ownership, declaring that when the public demands such a step one would see the railroads run better than many critics believe possible. Other speakers included Judge George W. Anderson, Professor Zacariah Chaffee, Professor George [illegible] Thompson of the Harvard Law School and John Codman.

Filene's

Filene better values

Why better values? Below are some of the reasons and some of the values. You be the judge.

—because every penny received from charging for delivery and charge accounts is returned to customers (charge and cash alike) in better values.

—because at Filene's you get what you pay for and pay only for what you get. The Paris service, a big expense in many stores, is on a paying basis here because we reproduce Paris fashions constantly, almost weekly, at popular prices. Only services which pay are profitable for the customer.

—because Filene's has learned how to keep stocks always new and fresh by an almost revolutionary but very simple device of taking quickly what few markdowns are necessary, while the merchandise is still wanted by the customer. Filene better values mean better in newness, and in a surprisingly large number of cases better in price.

HOUSE IS AFTER BURLESON ON PHONES

Must Explain Why Postal Department Has Kept Millions Received From Tolls

Washington, Jan. 23.—Why the enormous revenues derived from government operation of the telegraphs and telephone have been retained by the Postoffice Department instead of being turned into the United States Treasury Postmaster-General Burleson will have to explain to Congress, Representative Steenerson, ranking member of the House Postoffice Committee, declared today.

At an executive session of the committee, a report which was also made public today, Steenerson developed from William H. Lamar, solicitor for the Postoffice Department, that these revenues, running into thousands of millions of dollars, "absolutely belong to the United States, but are in the Postmaster-General's custody for the operating of the telegraph and telephone companies."

In a colloquy between Steenerson and Lamar, as printed in the report, it also developed that Lamar was unable to state the exact amount of the revenues the Postmaster-General "was holding," as Lamar expressed it, in the name of the United States, although specifically authorized to do so, Steenerson said, by Congress.

Lamar agreed with Steenerson that the American Telephone & Telegraph Company alone reports a revenue of more than $300,000,000 for 1917.

EXPENDITURES HEAVY.

Lamar said the Bell Telephone Company represents $1,200,000,000 in invested capital, and all the other companies will not amount to more than $400,000,000 in addition.

Steenerson asked: "Do you know enough about the general affairs of the telegraph and telephone companies—you have been employed in adjusting their contracts and must have command of some general information—to say that the revenues of these companies of which you have taken possession and control amount to more than the total revenues of the Postoffice Department from other sources?"

Lamar—I presume they do.

Steenerson—And the expenditures will amount to more or as much as the total expenditures of the Postoffice Department?

Lamar—Oh, yes; taking into consideration the extension of the properties, they will amount to a great deal more.

Steenerson—And this money will be taken in and will be paid out under the authority you are now exercising without any action of Congress or any appropriation?

Lamar—We do not need any appropriations, the properties are being operated on their own revenues.

Steenerson—You are aware that the constitution provides that no money shall be taken out of the treasury of the United States unless it is pursuant to the action of Congress?

Lamar—These operation revenues never get into the treasury of the United States.

PROMISES INVESTIGATION.

Steenerson—And this money does not go into the treasury of the companies?

Lamar—No; it goes to the credit of the Postmaster-General as the operating head of the wire service.

Steenerson—The matter is then of considerable importance to the people of the United States, when it is left in the hands of one man, who is appointed and not elected by the people, and he levies the taxes, so to speak, or the charges for all this service, amounting to four or five hundred million dollars a year, and pays it out without consulting Congress.

Lamar—It is a very important question.

Steenerson—Under the law, the money collected for telephone charges still belongs to the telephone companies, does it not?

Lamar—No, it belongs to the government.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

The guests at the luncheon given by Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird at the Chilton Club in honor of Mlle. [illegible], educator and journalist, here by appointment of the French government, were delightfully entertained by her talk on the prospect for woman suffrage in France.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Kelly of Lexington and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Milton of Brookline were among those who left for California yesterday.

Edmund Hawes Talbot has arrived at his home, No. 176 Bay State road, after a week's visit in Washington, D. C.

Much interest is being manifested in the talk which Mrs. Bowman Dodd will give next Monday afternoon at the Copley-Plaza at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Dodd will give an account of her four and one-half years' experience in French Lorraine with the French blind in Paris, and her work in Normandy with the refugees. The proceeds will go to the French refugees.

G. O. P. LIBERALS ORGANIZE TO SAVE STATE

Roosevelt Club to Work for Election of Progressive Candidates in Party

The Roosevelt Club, a political organization to work for the success of liberal principles and the election of progressive candidates, is being formed in this State today by a group of active, liberal Republican workers.

Charles Sumner Bird, Grafton D. Cushing, former Senator Robert M. Washburn, Speaker of the House Joseph E. Warner and Representative B. Loring Young of Weston, chairman of the important Ways and Means Committee, are among the active charter members of the new organization.

The defeat of Senator Weeks and the remarkable showing of Richard H. Long, Democratic candidate for Governor, at the last election has convinced them that the Republican party must be liberalized if it is to retain its power in this State.

Another G. O. P. organization, the Republican League, is also being formed. Former Representative Robert N. Turner, Congressman-elect Robert Luce and Senator George H. Churchill of Amherst are prominent in its councils. These men represent a reactionary element in the party. After looking over the membership Mr. Bird and his fellow-workers decided to organize a movement that will have real liberalism as its policy.

SEE FEUD IN FATAL PITTSFIELD SHOOTING

Pittsfield, Jan. 22.—Hints of an Italian feud followed the shooting of Dominick Ross, twenty-four, of No. 19 Centre street, by an unknown assailant. Ross, who was shot twice in the back, is at the House of Mercy Hospital and is not expected to live. The shooting took place in front of the old Parker House on West street. Ross had served eighteen months in the Berkshire House of Correction for assault on Tony Monterusso, according to the police. Ross is a barber employed by Joseph Najeoni at No. 111 North street.

PARADE IN CONCORD TO GREET GEN. EDWARDS

Concord, N. H., Jan. 22.—Major-General Clarence R. Edwards, commander of the Department of the Northeast, arrived here today to address the State Manufacturers' Association. He was met at the station by a military band, a company of the Home Guard, the Boys' City Club and a number of returned soldiers. At 12:15 he made a short address to the latter from the steps of the Eagle Hotel.

THE DEAF HEAR

Miss Mary [illegible], 200 Montvale Ave., Woburn, said to the writer: "I had been so deaf for a year that I could not hear at church or at the theatre. It was difficult for me to hear ordinary conversation. [illegible] 'You go to the Osmo-Chemic Physicians. They treated me successfully for deafness several years ago, and I am confident they can do as much for you.' I followed her advice and now I hear again perfectly."

The wonderful power of the X-RAY TREATMENT is proved by the fact that they are accomplishing wonderful results in diseases of every description—CATARRH, DEAFNESS, BRONCHITIS, STOMACH DISEASE, NERVOUS DISORDERS, SKIN DISEASE, BIRTHMARKS, MOLES, FACIAL BLEMISHES, ETC.

No matter what your disease may be, remember that the Osmo-Chemic doctor gives CONSULTATION and a Trial X-RAY Treatment and Medicines Absolutely FREE to all who call before Jan. 28.

Alkali In Soap Bad For the Hair

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.—Advertisement.

WITHHOLD NAMES OF IRISH PARLIAMENTARY MINISTERS

Dublin, Jan. 22.—Up to a late hour the names of the ministers who appeared at the session of the Irish Parliament had not been given out. It is understood they will be kept secret for the present. The Irish Cabinet includes a foreign minister and a minister of defence.

It was made clear in speeches at the parliamentary sessions that the Sinn Feiners consider Ireland to be in a state of war with the British government and any armed English force now in Ireland.

500 SKILLED MEN AT SPRINGFIELD ARE IDLE

Springfield, Jan. 22.—More than 500 skilled mechanics are walking the streets waiting for jobs while government red tape holds up the transfer of the Smith & Wesson plant to the company trustees. Promising to restore the plant to the company several weeks ago, the government discharged more than 1,200 men and women.

Gen. Wood Calls for Universal Training for Army Service

Topeka, Kas., Jan. 23.—"We need a system of military training for national service," declared General Leonard Wood in an address before the Kansas Legislature.

"It is only a part of mercy and justice to train and equip them. It is nothing short of murder to send out half-trained men, half-equipped to meet an equal force with better equipment and training.

"We don't want war. No soldier wants it. But it comes to us, as do epidemics. We want no big loafing standing army. All that is necessary for the country is a force equal to ordinary police work."

Of a league of nations General Wood said:

"The fine league of nations now existing between England, France and America is written not in ink, but in the blood of sacrifice."

"As a laxative, and for stomach trouble, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a wonderful remedy. I suffered greatly from indigestion and found relief after using one bottle."
(From a letter to Dr. Caldwell written by Cecil Fitzgerald, 829 14th St., Parkersburg, W. Va.)

Constipation is a condition that should never be neglected. The eliminative process is an essential factor in digestion and on its proper functioning depends the welfare of the entire system. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin relieves constipation without griping or other discomfort.

Washington Solons Marvel at Scenes in The Crystal Ball and Repent

Washington, Jan. 22.—Washington solons have followed the example of Alma Tell in "EYES OF YOUTH" at the Shubert-Wilbur Theatre, and have gazed into the crystal of their own hearts, before taking action on the bill increasing the theatre tax to tweny per cent. They looked into the crystal and saw these scenes:

Theatres closed, the public left without wholesome amusements, thousands upon thousands of actors, actresses, stage hands, electricians, and the others employed about the theatres, walking the streets, hungry and without work; in fact, the entire joyous land in a funereal mood.

Having seen such things in the crystal they had a conference and decided NOT TO INCREASE THE THEATRE TAX. They looked into the matter with the EYES OF YOUTH. They chose the right path of those before them, even as Alma Tell does with unerring accuracy in "EYES OF YOUTH." See this wonderful play at once at the Shubert-Wilbur Theatre.

SAVE YOUR HAIR AND BEAUTIFY IT WITH "DANDERINE"

Spend a few cents! Dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Try this! Hair gets beautiful, wavy and thick in few moments.

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter for a few cents; apply a little as directed, and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised, that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually—why not now?—Advertisement.

ADVERTISE YOUR WANTS
IN THE BOSTON AMERICAN

Big Business and Little Ads

THOSE not familiar with Boston Evening American Want Ads might suppose that it is only the smaller forms of business, the unclassified, et cetera, which patronize this department of the newspaper.

But big business knows the advantage of The American Want Ad.

Some of the biggest concerns in the country make use of this medium.

In a recent issue you might have seen these:

The Western Union Telegraph Company offers here a position with a future to men, and women.

The big hotels make use of these columns.

A large department store on Washington street here advertises for girls to take a course of training at good wages.

The Boston Elevated Railway Company inserts its Want Ad for motormen and conductors.

The great Fore River shipyard in the same columns posts its notice asking for laborers.

Even the United States Government uses American Want Ads to secure workmen.

The Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corp. has a Want Ad for shipfitters, plate and angle furnace workers.

The U. S. Merchant Marine Ad appears here also, offering ship workers work for years to come at good wages, also a training school.

The American Express Company, now under the control of the Government, displays its Want Ad here.

You will also find the large savings banks making use of this column.

The big business of the country is shrewd. It understands the value of American Want Ads, and their supreme place in publicity.

When you put your Want Ad in The Boston Evening American, you introduce it into good company.

TENDLER'S EARNINGS FOR '18 SHOWS SOFTNESS OF BOXING

By NICK FLATLEY.

HAVING watched sundry boxers get flattened noses, gloomy optics, tin ears and similar things, we have often wondered just what form of insanity made them do it. Many explanations have been proffered, or suggested themselves, but the real answer arrived when a list of the financial earnings of one Lew Tendler appeared.

Lew is a boxer, not a champion, but a pretty classy performer. He used to be a newsboy, and perhaps hustling came natural to him. His ring receipts for 1918 were $[illegible], a [illegible] than a few thousand of our prosperous business men collected. Stocks Rule Strong in New York After Midday

RAILS LEADERS IN A QUIET MARKET

U. S. Steel Shows Fractional Loss After Heavy Selling Pressure

By W. H. ROSS.
Financial Editor.

Stocks ruled strong at 2 o'clock in New York, a number having advanced during the noon period. The market showed no material change early in the afternoon. American Hide & Leather issues were active and higher. U. S. Steel was off a fraction after being subjected to an aggressive bear attack during the morning. Railroads held their gains as a class. They were leaders in the early advance. Coppers were inactive but higher. Marine preferred had advanced a point and several specialties showed good gains. The market was rather quiet, and trading of a professional character.

Gains in the afternoon included Union Pacific, 1 at 127; Southern Pacific, ⅞ at 98; Northern Pacific, 1¼ at 90½; New Haven, 1¼ at 29¾; Great Northern preferred, 1½ at 92½; St. Paul, 1½ at 38¾; Baltimore & Ohio, 1⅜ at 47⅞; American Hide & Leather common 1⅛ and preferred 2⅞ at 15½ and preferred at 80½ and 80⅞ respectively; California Packing, 1½ at 53½; U. S. Rubber, 1⅛ at 75½; Bethlehem B, ⅞ at 58¾; Baldwin, 1 at 68⅜; Mexican Petroleum ½ at 166; Marine preferred, 1 at 100¾, and Anaconda, ½ at 57½.

Among declines were U. S. Steel ⅝ at 89; Tobacco Products, ¼ at 74½; Steel Foundries ⅞ at 78½ and Brooklyn Rapid Transit, ⅝ at 21.

In Boston, where trading was quiet all day, United Fruit was up at 160; Boston & Maine ½ at 30; Island Oil, ⅝ at 8¼; Massachusetts Gas, 1 at 83; Boston Elevated, ⅝ at 68⅛, and Calumet and Arizona, ½ at 59½. Osceola was off 1 at 48, and United Shoe ¼ at 44½.

MARKET STRONG AT NOON.

Stocks were strong in New York at noon after a steady start, a period of weakness and later recovery. Railroads were leaders in the rally late in the first hour. The list in general improved during the last half of the forenoon and the market, which had been dull, grew more active on the advance. Steel issues were the weakest group on the whole. U. S. Steel opened with a small gain, but afterwards sold a point below yesterday's closing figure. It recovered its loss before noon and then weakened a trifle.

Professional traders bought stocks at the opening, but the demand from this source was limited and of brief duration. Before the end of the first hour large selling orders caused a general depression. Four houses offered 20,000 shares of U. S. Steel common. Marine preferred was under pressure for a time and receded more than a point. Most price changes during the morning were fractional.

FIRM AT THE OPENING.

Firmness marked the New York market at the opening, but price changes ruled small and trading was quiet. U. S. Steel began at yesterday's highest price, but soon eased off. Declines, in fact, were the rule within half an hour, but losses and gains averaged little. Mexican Petroleum was an exception, receding nearly three points. Sentiment was more bullish owing to the extent of the short interest and because of reports that recent liquidation had sent stocks into the possession of stronger holders. Fluctuations of U. S. Steel are being watched with the utmost interest. Wall Street is rife with rumors as to what dividend action will be taken at the next board meeting. It is said the Steel Corporation is still operating at from 90 per cent. to 95 per cent. of capacity. Many traders said today that covering had been so extensive that the short interest was no longer of so much technical importance. The demand for railroad issues seemed to have been supplied. Coppers were sluggish because of the metal market situation.

FINANCIAL NEWS IN BRIEF.

President Shonts told Interborough stockholders that while a receivership for the corporation is not imminent, unless something can be done to relieve unfavorable operating conditions the outlook is precarious.

It is planned to merge the First National Bank and the Mechanics National Bank, both of New Bedford. The consolidated bank will have $500,000 capital, surplus of that amount, and undivided profits of $200,000.

The government will lose, it is stated, from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 in selling its surplus supply of American wool by auction.

The scrap iron and steel market is now $10 to $13 a ton below government maximum quotations, with no signs of bottom.

The Dutch want more ships and an order for 15,000 tons of shipbuilding material has been placed in this country.

The Oil City Derrick says there was a loss in December of 2,867,797 barrels in oil stocks of Eastern and Western pipe lines.

Weakness in metal markets has not caused a decrease in ore prices at Joplin, Mo.

Director-General Hines says, barring a traffic slump, he expects railroads to earn guaranteed compensation.

Interborough Earnings

For 1918 the Interborough Consolidated Corporation reports net after charges, of $724,914, equal to $1.58 a share earned on $45,740,500 preferred. In the previous year the company reported net of $3,263,910, which, after deduction of 6 per cent. preferred dividends, showed a balance equal to 65 cents a share on 932,626 outstanding shares of common stock of no par value.

City Offers Loan

City Treasurer Babcock of Attleboro, Mass., will receive bids until January 24, at 3 p. m., for a loan of $50,000 to be dated January 27 and payable August 27.

HEAVY GINNING AFFECTS N. Y. COTTON TRADING

New York, Jan. 23. — Unexpected heavy ginning returns to January 16, coupled with unsettled labor conditions both in this country and abroad, restricted early demand and caused an irregular opening. Liverpool was the principal buyer, while local and Southern selling more than supplied the demand. Reports from the South continued unfavorable, so far as demand for the actual was concerned.

Cotton opening prices were: January, 24.50; March, 23.50; May, 23.50; July, 21.42; August, 20.25; September, 19.70; October, 19.45; November, 19.30; December, 1915.

Gotton Ginning

Washington, Jan. 23.—Cotton ginned from the 1918 crops to January 16 this year, the Census Bureau reports, was 11,051,845 bales, counting round as half bales. This is an increase of 481,112 over the corresponding previous period, and a decrease of 75,867 from 1917.

Chicago Grain Market

Chicago, Jan. 23.—Corn opened ½ to 1 cent lower. Oats were ¼ cent lower. Provisions opened lower. Opening prices were: Corn, Feb., 1.28; March, 1.26¾. Oats, Jan., 62½; Feb., 62½; March, 63¾. Lard, May 22.20. Ribs, May, 21.85.

Getting Back to Normal

Regarding the iron industry, The Iron Age says it is measurably nearer the moment of total deflation from the war basis, and an encouraging feature from the buyer's standpoint is that labor now idle shows a disposition to resume at reduced wages. Firm offers for steel at below present levels are now likely to lead to successful negotiations.

N. Y. Sub-Treasury Gain

New York, Jan. 23.—The sub-treasury gained $333,000 from the banks on Wednesday, making a cash net gain since Friday of $2,304,000.

OFFER COPPER UNDER 20 CENTS

Electrolytic May Be Bought at 19¾; Casting at 18¼ a Pound

New York, Jan. 23.—Electrolytic copper is being offered for January shipment at 19¾ cents a pound, while casting copper may be had at 18¼ cents.

Trade reports are that the copper business of the entire country is very adversely affected by the enormous tonnage of scrap electrolytic copper in the shape of bands, turnings, piercings, etc., that the government is carrying at the different munition plants.

The trade holds to the opinion that it will be difficult to have a stable copper market until all the government holdings in scrap and electrolytic have been liquidated.

Most of this scrap is pure electrolytic copper and could be easily absorbed by consumers.

Mines have curtailed production because of the uncertainties of the future and the amount of copper on hand. While American refinery production last year totalled 2,250,000,000 pounds, or only a little under the high record attained in 1916, demand slackened with the armistice. But production did not diminish until the end of the year. In December last refineries operated at 92 per cent. of capacity and produced 215,520,000 pounds.

Coppr sellers are now awaiting a resumption of foreign demand and domestic consumption. The metal hereafter bought will be for peace and not war use. Nearly half of the metal produced in this country finds a market normally in Europe, but during the month only 11,000,000 pounds were exported. This and the trade situation in the United States tells why there is at present nothing doing in copper.

MASS. SAVINGS DEPOSITS LARGEST EVER KNOWN

Massachusetts is a thrifty and industrious Commonwealth. Although it "went over the top" in buying Liberty Bonds and heavily oversubscribed for War Savings Stamps, it was able during the fiscal year ended October 31, 1918, to add $11,549,417 to its savings bank deposits. On that date such deposits in the 196 savings banks in this State totalled the high record amount of $1,033,892,000. The total is larger now, for deposits have been on a large scale since.

Dividends accruing to deposits during the last fiscal year totalled $42,151,000, and withdrawals $30,602,000.

The following table gives deposits and other facts relating to them for each of the four years of the European war:

An Attack Upon Mayor Hylan of New York and Mr. Hearst That Failed

A British Born Clergyman Does Himself and His Church of England Little Credit

Copyright, 1919, Star Company

Last Friday night the agents of high finance and those who would rather have a smile at the British court than the applause of the American people called a mass meeting to denounce Mayor Hylan of New York for appointing William R. Hearst chairman of the committee on reception to the returning soldiers. Madison Square Garden was selected as the place of the meeting because they thought that the agitation against Mr. Hearst conducted by the corporation newspapers of New York for the last year would be able to fill this great hall, which seats nearly 20,000 people. It was advertised for a week and an especial effort was made to have it well attended by soldiers and sailors.

By actual count there were less than 3,600 people present at this would-be monster meeting. So ridiculously empty did the hall look that the few that were in the galleries were brought down to the floor and all were moved up to the centre of the hall near the platform. There were less than a thousand soldiers present, but those soldiers immediately indicated their friendship to Mayor Hylan and Mr. Hearst by cheering him and leaving the hall when these two men began to be denounced by the speaker.

Those who arranged the meeting asserted that they had called it in order to defend soldiers and sailors against Mayor Hylan and Mr. Hearst.

And whenever either Mayor Hylan or Mr. Hearst was mentioned by name ALL the uniformed soldiers and sailors cheered them both right heartily.

And, to cap it all, when the chairman indignantly demanded that every one who was not in sympathy with the assaults upon Mayor Hylan and Mr. Hearst leave the hall at once, the uniformed soldiers rose up as one man and filed out of the meeting, cheering for Hylan and Hearst!

It certainly was funny to watch the astonished and dismayed countenances on the platform, where sat the organizers and speakers of the meeting, as the uniformed veterans marched out in solid column.

And it was partly funny, but more shameful, to see the foreign propagandists and their unpatriotic sympathizers sticking out their tongues and screaming abuse at our soldier men as they marched out—the very men of whom these propagandists had so loudly proclaimed themselves the protectors and defenders against the Mayor of New York and Mr. Hearst!

With unlimited wealth at their command and plenty of foreign propaganda agents and hybrid Anglophiles to draw upon, the organizers managed to asssemble in the Garden less than two thousand of their own sort of half caste "Americans." The remainder of the thirty-eight hundred people at the meeting were genuine Americans, who had been misled as to the actual purposes of the meeting, or who had come out of curiosity to see how 'arf and 'arf Americans behave when they are attacking the American government, slurring the President and trying to make personal capital out of patriotic national functions.

There was one sector in the Garden which was thrillingly and inspiringly American, in contrast to the half filled sector of half baked Americans adjoining it.

That was the sector where sat the soldiers and sailors in the uniform of the country they have served so well.

That sector was occupied by one hundred per cent. Americans.

There was not a foreign propagandist, nor a British sympathizer, nor a half-caste American in the whole lot.

Neither was there a hireling, who could be bought to cheer the un-American sentiments of the speakers and of the organizers of the affair.

Not among the soldier men and the sailor men of the United States there that night.

Not one!

Of course; the meeting was a ridiculous fizzle from the moment the soldiers and sailors let everybody know that THEY were unanimously favorable to Mayor Hylan and to Mr. Hearst and that they looked upon Mr. Hearst and the Hearst papers as the very best friends the American soldiers and sailors have.

The ridiculousness of urging a civilian protest in defence of soldiers and sailors against Mayor Hylan and Mr. Hearst while the hundreds of soldiers and sailors present were cheering their heads off for both Hylan and Hearst was apparent to the dullest mind among those in charge of the affair.

So Mr. James M. Beck—the person who lately earned great applause abroad by urging that we cancel the debt England owes us, a mere bagatelle of a few billions—wound up the ridiculous meeting by a ridiculous whine that lawless hirelings had prevented free speech—these lawless "hirelings" being, according to Mr. Beck, the uniformed soldiers and sailors of the United States, who had "lawlessly" cheered the American Mayor of New York and the American owner of this American newspaper!

This Beck shows what an unreasoning ass a propagandist can become without knowing it.

A speaker of different discreditable type at this meeting was the Rev. William T. Manning.

The Beck person was only foolish and laughable.

The Rev. William T. Manning was blatant, abusive, irresponsible and untruthful.

Dr. Manning is a minister and calls himself a Christian.

He does neither his profession nor his creed any credit.

A minister should not bear false witness.

A Christian should not tell falsehoods.

Nor will an honest and upright man put in another man's mouth words which he never uttered, for the purpose of bringing unmerited reproach upon that other man.

And we say emphatically, and meaning every measured word, that on Friday night the Rev. William T. Manning publicly bore false witness against Mr. Hearst and the New York American; publicly told falsehoods about Mr. Hearst and the American, and publicly put in Mr. Hearst's mouth and in the mouth of the American words and sentiments which neither Mr. Hearst nor the American ever uttered.

Dr. Manning's baseless statements are merely an evidence of the low plane of mean misrepresentation to which a fanatic propagandist can descend, even though he wears the garb of a Christian minister and professes to be a guide to others in the paths of integrity, honor, truthfulness and religion.

In his speech Dr. Manning said:

> "We Americans are a tolerant people, and it is well that we are. But tolerance can be carried too far, and we cannot assent to the presence on an official committee of welcome to our soldiers of a man who defended Germany when she sank the Lusitania (you will find that in the New York American for June 6, 1915), who was in close association with Bolo and Von Bernstorff, who did his utmost to create prejudice against our allies, and is still doing this, and who did all that he could to keep our country from entering into the war against Germany. Every intelligent man in New York knows that Mr. Hearst did these things."

In these few words Dr. Manning managed to tell two flat falsehoods.

When Dr. Manning said that Mr. Hearst

> "defended Germany when she sank the Lusitania in the New York American for June 6, 1915,"

he told a deliberate falsehood, unbecoming to an honest man, and indecent upon the lips of a Christian minister.

The sinking of the Lusitania was denounced as "wholesale murder" in the American and as > "a cruel and evil act"

by Mr. Hearst personally in a signed article.

The signed article which Mr. Hearst published in the American of June 6, 1915, was an argument condemning THE WHOLE SYSTEM OF NAVAL WARFARE THEN BEING DEVELOPED, and urging that the United States take a firm stand upon its neutral rights, and enforce those rights against German submarine aggression and against allied supra-marine aggression, and further arguing that such a firm stand against any and all foreign aggressions upon our commerce and in defence of each and all of our neutral rights might save us from being finally drawn into Europe's war—an argument which time and events have most assuredly justified.

Either Dr. Manning never read this article which he says "defended" the sinking of the Lusitania or he cannot understand plain English when he reads it; or he deliberately made a false statement and a false accusation.

Mr. Hearst denouncing the sinking of the Lusitania as a

> "cruel and evil act"

argued that since the technical standing of the Lusitania as an English naval auxiliary might give Germany a ground for technical diplomatic defence, we could get action quicker and more decisively by having our remonstrances and our declarations of rights, and threats of maintaining those rights by arms, upon the submarine attacks upon American ships—the Nebraskan, the Gulflight and the Cushing—all three of which had been unlawfully attacked while voyaging under their own American registry and flag.

Mr. Hearst said:

> "These vessels were American vessels. They were flying the American flag. They were entitled to the privileges and free passage of neutrals. They were under the protection of this country, and such American ships and such American rights must be protected by this country EVEN IF THIS PROTECTION CALLS FOR FORCE OF ARMS.
> "Explanations of such outrages will not hereafter answer. APOLOGIES SHOULD NO LONGER BE ACCEPTED."

No decent or honest man can possibly distort this argument into a "defence" of the sinking of the Lusitania—the act which Mr. Hearst denounced in this very article as "cruel and evil."

And as for Mr. Hearst's view of the technical difficulties presented by the condition of international law AT THAT TIME, we can only say that if the expression of that view then disqualifies him from helping to welcome home our soldiers, then Mr. Wilson is similarly disqualified, and so is every member of his Cabinet and the very great majority of the Congress—for the President and his Cabinet and the majority of the Congress took THIS SAME IDENTICAL VIEW; acted upon THIS SAME IDENTICAL VIEW; settled the controversy with Germany over the Lusitania UPON THIS SAME IDENTICAL VIEW, and so postponed our entry into the war for almost two years.

What do you plain, fair-dealing, honest folks think of the motives and conduct of men who hold meetings to abuse and slander American papers and American men upon the ground that in the year 1915 they were in full agreement with their own government—and with every other sensible American, for that matter, whether in public life or in private life?

And what do you think of the motives, conduct and character of a minister of the Gospel who will publicly misrepresent and falsify the utterances of an American newspaper and an American editor as this Dr. Manning misrepresented and falsified the statement of Mr. Hearst and the American last Friday night?

What do you think of such men and such proceedings, good people, what do you think of them?

Not very honest, are they?

Not very scrupulous about the truth, are they?

Pretty poor representatives of honest patriotism and honest religion, aren't they?

And then there is Dr. Manning's other statement that Mr. Hearst was—

> "in close association with Bolo and Bernstorff."

Either Dr. Manning knows that that statement is a deliberate falsehood, unbecoming to an honest man, or else Dr. Manning is the one man in the country who has not read the record of the recent senatorial investigation in which Becker, the originator of this false charge against Mr. Hearst, was compelled to eat his own charges, discredit his own perjured ex-convict witnesses, and finally driven to beg that he be permitted to withdraw all the affidavits by which he had attempted to connect Mr. Hearst with Bolo Pasha.

Does Dr. Manning really believe that ANY intelligent man in New York now credits the falsehoods of Becker and his convict agents and tools?

If Dr. Manning does believe that he is either very dull of understanding or very ill-informed as to public sentiment.

And in either case he made a false statement, a statement which Becker himself, under oath, was forced to admit to be false, and which no honest man, no fair man and no reasonably truthful man would make or repeat after the exposure of Becker and the ignominious collapse of his plot and the complete exposure of his criminal agents and false affidavit-makers.

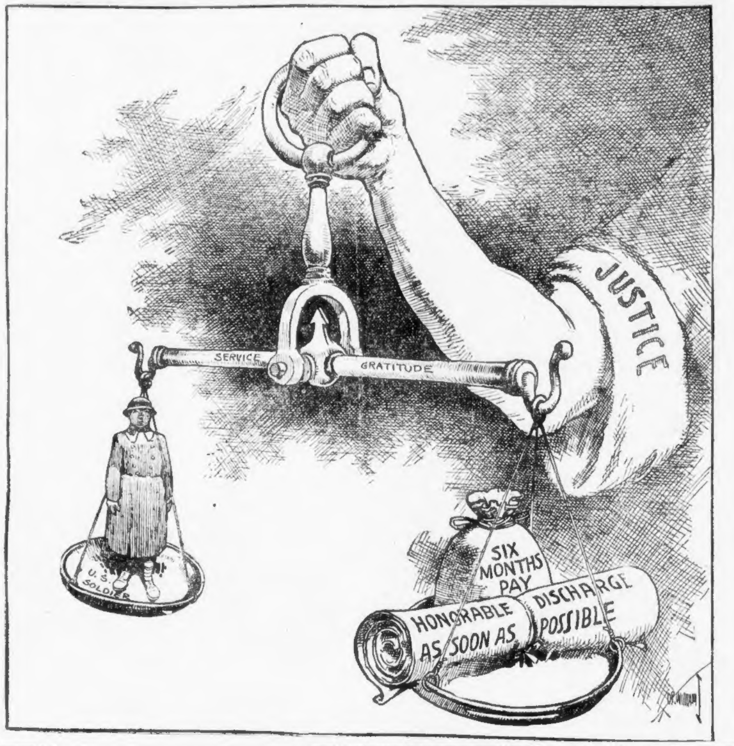
Dr. Manning is a high priest of the Church of England, but when we think of him in his neat, white lace surplice, we think also of Pharisees whom Jesus denounced, saying:

"Ye are like unto whited sepulchres which indeed appear beautiful outward, but are within full of all uncleanness.

"Even so ye also outwardly appear righteous unto men, but within ye are full of hypocrisy and iniquity."

And we strongly suspect that when this high priest of predatory wealth wakes up on the other shore he will still find himself in the congenial and accustomed company of some of the high financiers whom Jesus whipped out of the Temple.

Not Charity, but Justice



Letters to the Editor

Annexation

Editor Boston American:

I may be a little late in expressing my opinion of Mayor Peters and his excellent proposition of annexation. But a man of his type and progressiveness deserves the hearty co-operation of all the broad-minded business men of Boston and vicinity. When I read in your paper the remarks of Mayor Roscoe Walsworth of Revere, I knew he was not expressing the opinion of all our citizens as proved at a vote taken by the citizens of Revere on the question of annexation about five years ago. You will please note the fact that the annexation supporters of Revere carried the said city by a vote of eight to one.

My personal views are that the advantages Revere would derive from annexation to Boston would be too numerous to mention. A tax rate of $26.80 a thousand would be cut to its just proportion by annexation. A lower rate would attract capital for real estate and industrial enterprises. Factories would not go where profits are partially confiscated by excessive taxation. Banks have always loathed to loan money on Revere real estate. Increased fire protection and its concomitant lower insurance rates; better streets, sewers, and playgrounds and more of them. Stricter supervision of health and sanitation. These are only a few of the benefits that would follow with annexation to Boston.

Next would come municipal improvements on a large scale instead of in driblets, city planning along broad lines. All of Boston's splendid treasures of art and science would become a part of the heritage of Revere's future generations. For our present city government would be substituted a Peters or a Storrow, police administration would be headed by a Curtis or a Cole. Public schools would be supervised by a $10,000 a year superintendent, our engineering and transportation problems would be solved by the competent city engineers of Boston and the Boston Transit Commission.

Let cavillers and malingerers carp in vain. Office holders and their satellites who fear the loss of sinecures and perquisites should not be heeded. Revere should be for all the people of Revere and not for a few.

Will Boston have us? Let history answer. Brighton, Dorchester, West Roxbury, Charlestown, South Boston, Hyde Park have all in turn pulled the latch string and asked to be taken in and Boston has never refused, but has welcomed them heartily to her broad maternal bosom.

Finally individual selfishness should have no place in this discussion. Revere must build for the future, not for the present. Boston is the second fastest growing metropolis in the United States. Let Revere share in that growth! The word support for seven hundred and fifty-thousand people, is tremendous. Let Revere avail itself of it! The financial backing of practically all New England is behind Boston. Let Revere participate in it. The commercial prestige of Boston means industrial enterprise, improved transportation, broad harbors, comprehensive city planning, health, security, happiness and prosperity. Let Revere partake of them.

Conscription

Editor Boston American:

In the Boston American of January 16, in the article by Dr. C. Hagberg Wright on "Aims of Bolsheviki," appears this statement: "In order to abolish all parasitic sections of society and to organize social life, a universal conscription is introduced." Now, does this mean military conscription, or conscription of labor, or capital? Again on January 17 Dr. Wright states, "Unfortunately, the Soviet government has never played fair." Then he goes on to prove that it was England rather than the Soviet government of Russia that did not play fair. Would you please make these two points clear? Sincerely thanking you for giving us the real truth about the situation in Russia, I am,

ALBERT UDIN.

Auburndale.

Dr. Wright, in referring to universal conscription, means military conscription, conscription of labor, of capital; in fact, universal conscription of all the resources of the State. This is in line with the well-known Socialistic theories of Lenine, Trotzky and other leaders of the Bolsheviki.

Regarding the second question, we will have to let Dr. Wright's statement stand as it is, as that is a matter of opinion, and not a matter of fact.

Editor, Boston American.

A New Big Diamond.
It Measures Our Foolishness.
Talking to the Planets.
What Have We to Say?

By Arthur Brisbane

(Copyright, 1919.)

Marconi says we shall be able to talk to other planets some day. Has any intelligent man ever doubted that? You cannot talk to a new-born infant in its cradle. You wouldn't if you could, for it has nothing to say. Older planets, our neighbor Mars, for instance, with a civilization millions of years older than our own, would probably take as little interest in talking to us as Newton would have taken in talking to an Indian papoose.

We shall talk to the other planets and they to us, as soon as we have anything worth telling them. They wouldn't be much interested in learning that we are engaged down here in murderous wars and in underpaying and underfeeding our own brothers and sisters within our borders.

If we could talk to an educated neighbor in space now the comment of that neighbor would be, probably: "What a strange, vicious, savage, murderous little planet. Turn off the wireless, I can't listen to it."

Senator Penrose says that after March 4th comes, he will investigate the aircraft, shipbuilding and other scandals. More power.

Senator Harding of Ohio says the President "will have to put out the flames of anarchy at home" if he doesn't hurry back and get business started with work for soldiers.

Mr. Harding says also, "The world, trembling with a menace of Bolshevism, owes a good part of its difficulties to the policies of the chief executive."

The Republicans, who will have charge of Congress about six week from today, are preparing a warm welcome for President Wilson. The polite days are over.

Turn to more pleasant things. They have found in the Jaagersfontein mine of South Africa a blue white diamond weighing nearly four hundred karats.

This pebble of pure carbon is "worth" many dollars. Men, in the value they put on different stones display their primitive childishness. One has a bright stone sparkling on his shirt front or finger. Another fastens to his watch chain a small stone, cut out of his interior by a surgeon, and tells you all about it.

The learned doctor, George F. Kunz, would tell you interesting facts about diamonds. One great stone was used by a Kaffir witch doctor in his incantations. He sold it for 500 sheep and some horses. The buyer sold it for $56,000.

The ancients believed diamonds that cannot be destroyed by fire or acid could be melted in the blood of a goat. The diamond was supposed to make poisons more violent and to cure insanity.

Dr. Kunz's most interesting fact is this: "In working the De Beers mines in South Africa the natives, in twelve years, moved 35,000,000 loads of earth and got out $200,000,000 worth of diamonds. Once out the diamonds are worth nothing except to please the vanity of civilized savages. What would have been the value to men if the 35,00,000 loads of earth had been moved in building a railroad, digging a canal or cultivating the earth?" All the known diamonds in the world are worth about $1,000,000,000. We had half of them here in the United States long before the beginning of war profiteer days. We have probably more than half by now. That ought to make us proud.

The American wheat farmer will owe something to the war. He gets $2.20 a bushel, about double what farmers get in other countries where wheat growing is not subsidized. The Democrats guaranteed the farmers that price. Will the Republicans dare change it? If they do, what will happen to them in 1920? If they don't, the taxpayers will have to raise at least a billion a year to pay farmers the difference between the guaranteed price and the price that wheat will fetch in the world's markets. How will the men with the big income tax like that?

Universal suffrage is in the new German constitution. The number of women that voted in Germany last Sunday—observe the Sabbath day election—was greater than the total number of women now allowed to vote in England and the United States combined. German women will thank the war, if they ever get their debts paid.

The revolution in France changed government and thought all over the world. Our own revolution, the thinking methods of such men as Jefferson and Franklin, were borrowed from the thinking Frenchmen of the eighteenth century. How much greater world changes will come from the revolutions that are now in being all over the earth—in Austria, Germany, China, Russia and not forgetting England, where the demands of the Labor party, that must be met, are in themselves a revolution.
